Well, the campaigning for your votes in the 2018

Inside Soap Awards starts with a vengeance this week, as Corrie brings out its big guns to persuade you to give them your vote. We had a great day catching up with the Street favourites, and they had plenty of goss to share while they popped on their gladrags and struck a pose for the Inside Soap photographer. We'll be catching up with all the soaps in the coming weeks, so don't miss the next few issues, where we have some treats in store.

Elsewhere this issue, a car crash brings deadly danger for Megan and Frank in Emmerdale. And over in Corrie the drama continues as Sally finds herself arrested. And it's a good job the fashion police aren't patrolling in this week's Hollyoaks, because some of the holiday outfits the McQueens are sporting would definitely see them banged up abroad!

Sally ARRESTED for fraud!

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

SHE FEELS A RIGHT
CLOWN AS DUNCAN
STITCHES HER UP
GOOD AND PROPER...

For once, Kirk
isn't the only clown in Weatherfield!

Sally's community-minded party turns into a circus!

The police aren't clowning around this week, when they storm Sally's fancy-dress fund-raiser – and arrest the former mayor on suspicion of fraud, bribery and money laundering!

Scheming con man Duncan has been apprehended by cops after swindling Sal for £40,000 of council money – but the extent of his treachery is far worse than she ever imagined, as it dawns on the innocent woman that she's being framed.

"Sally is trying to do something nice for the community, because young Jack has lost his lower leg and she is attempting to raise some money for him," explains actress Sally Dynevor, as she talks us through the lead-up to her alter ego's arrest. "Sally puts on this big event and is dressed as a clown with a big red nose and rosy cheeks – which I actually had to walk around the Coronation Street studios in for three whole weeks!

"Sally doesn't understand what on earth's going on!"

"Sally is really happy and everything is going great – until suddenly a police officer walks in and arrests her," continues the star. "She is massively shocked, and doesn't understand what on earth is going on. What Duncan has done in order to frame her is exceptionally clever."

Having already been forced to resign as Weatherfield mayor in the immediate aftermath of Duncan's wicked con, Sally is mortified when she is carted off to the local nick – only to learn that Adam can't represent her, as his colleague Imran has agreed to take Duncan's case!

But that's just the tip of the iceberg, as detectives present Sal with copies of her bank statements – and demand to know why Duncan recently deposited £1,000 into her account...

"That was the money that Tim thought had materialised from a bank error," confirms Sally. "Sal just assumed that it had come from Streetcars to put towards helping Jack, but then the police inform her that the cash came from Duncan. At the time, Tim withdrew the money on the basis that, if it was an error, the bank would have to let them keep it. So he's unintentionally dropped Sally right in it!"

If the situation between Sally and Tim wasn't strained enough, devious Duncan throws another curveball their way by claiming that he and Sally were having an affair! It's all part of his plan to make it look as though the councillor was complicit in the theft from the very beginning, leaving Sally with a massive mountain to climb as she attempts to prove her innocence.

"Duncan has set up a lot of traps for her to fall into," sighs Sally. "He's even used spare mobile phones to have chats with her, so it looks as if they've been romantically involved, and is using them as evidence."

"Sally and Tim go to his house to speak to Duncan's daughter, but he spots them and comes outside," adds the actress. "Duncan and Tim have a bit of a scrap, and then the police come looking for Tim, which plays right into Duncan's hands. It's a terrible mess!"

Tim is stunned when the boys in blue pitch up again and he learns that, this

Devious Duncan has done a number on Tim and Sally time, it's him they want to question! Luckily Sally's husband is let off with a caution for his scuffle with Duncan, but their marriage looks set to pay a much higher price as Tim returns and stuns Sally with a shocking admission. Has Duncan succeeded in casting enough doubt in Tim's mind to question his wife's fidelity? And in turn, will he come to suspect that Sally isn't as innocent in Duncan's fraud as she claims?

"I feel really sorry for her," sighs Sally. "I'm filming scenes with Joe [Duttine, aka Tim] where Tim believes that Sally was having an affair. She's really trying to persuade him that she would never do that to him, and pleading with Tim to believe she really loves him – but he brings up the fact that she nearly slept with Kevin the night before they were married. So it's moments like that which make me think, 'Oh God, this is awful – how on earth will Sally get out of this?' I just can't see a way through for her."

At the end of the week, the cavalry arrives in the form of Sally's old school friend Paula Martin, a solicitor Gina has drafted in to represent her sister. Paula believes Sally has a strong case as Duncan's evidence is circumstantial – but do they have enough of a defence to convince the Crown Prosecution Service? Or has Duncan successfully bought Sally a one-way ticket to jail?

Laura-Jayne Tyler

Free the Weatherfield one!

Sally urges viewers to get behind the campaign...

Corrie has a history of sending innocent characters to jail for crimes they didn't commit, and sparking nationwide campaigns to free them. Like Deirdre Rachid and Gail McIntyre before her, it sounds as though Sal could be heading the same way.

"It will be a huge story moving into the autumn – so you might want to get your 'Free Sally' T-shirts ready!" teases star Sally. "For Sal, the shame of being sent to jail would be horrible because everyone would know that she's gone to prison. She wouldn't be able to walk down the Street with her head held high again, there's no doubt about that!"

Faith breaks Sarah out of hospital!

SHE'S TRYING TO CHEER HER UP, BUT WILL FAITH PUT SARAH IN DANGER?

Debbie is devastated this week, as Sarah says she doesn't want to continue with medical treatment – but Faith cooks up a wild plan to change her mind!

Having undergone heart-transplant surgery to increase her chances of living longer, Sarah – who suffers with life-threatening condition Fanconi anaemia – leaves her nearest and dearest stunned by the admission. But as it transpires that Sarah has overheard Faith writing off her recent surgery as a waste of time, Debbie is livid with her outspoken gran – who decides to take drastic action to undo the damage...

"Faith feels massively responsible – she's really put her foot in it this time," sighs Sally Dexter, who plays her. "Sarah hears Faith talking to Diane and Joe about her medical situation, and not being encouraging about it. Faith was having an off day, and just hadn't dared to hold out too much hope. But now she realises that she needs to shake Sarah out of this gloom-ridden state she's in."

It's not just Sarah's health that Faith is on a mission to rescue, though, after Debbie orders her to stay away from her and her daughter from now on. Of course, Faith refuses to do as she's told – and cooks up a typically hair-brained plot...

"Debbie is furious!" says Sally. "So Faith comes up with this crazy idea to get Sarah to see life in a different way. She takes her out of the hospital, to show her life is worth living."

As she sneaks Sarah out of the ward and off to a mystery location, it's anyone's guess what Faith has planned. But while she's convinced that she's doing the right thing, could Faith be putting the poorly girl at risk by removing her from the care of the hospital?

"Faith has faith!" she insists. "If she can't change Sarah's mind, I don't think anyone can. There's risk involved in taking Sarah, but she's in a wheelchair with her drugs, and off they go."

"Without further medical care, Sarah won't make it," continues Sally. "So if this plan doesn't work, I don't think Faith could ever forgive herself – and I don't know if Debbie could, either..."

Allison Jones

"Faith has really put her foot in it..."

Faith is given a serious dressing-down by Debbie

"Faith could hold the Dingles together!"

Sally loves being part of the legendary Dales family...

Have you enjoyed working closely with Katie Hill, the actress who plays Sarah?

It's a joy! The relationship Faith and Sarah have has transmogrified between myself and Katie. She's a fabulous actress. Just like Faith and Sarah are on a level, so Katie and I are too.

Have you given Katie any acting advice?

I don't need to give Katie any acting advice at all! In fact, I'd be happy to take some from her...

How well does Faith rule the roost among the Dingle family, do you reckon?

With Lisa away, I think Faith could hold the family together – not by discipline, but by having a damn-good party now and again! There is another side to her, though, and I wouldn't be surprised if we saw a more business-oriented Faith at some point.

Are you still enjoying Faith and Pollard's relationship – and do you think it can last?

Pollard is an extraordinary character, and Chris [Chittell, who plays him] is joyous to work with. While I don't know if it'll end up with wedding bells, we'll cobble along – it's not a wild romance, but they'll always have a fondness for one another. And there's a lot of fun to be had!

Tell me about my father!

CAN KAREN BRING HERSELF TO ADMIT TO KEANU THAT HIS DAD IS A MONSTER?

Keanu loses his temper with his mum

Karen scrambles to protect her horrifying secret

Karen's skeletons look set to come tumbling out of the Taylor family closet this week, as Keanu demands to know the truth about his father!

While Keegan knows the full story – that Keanu's dad Shane was an extremely violent man, who stabbed Karen and was sent to prison – Karen has begged him not to breathe a word, fearful of how his older brother will react. But how much longer can she keep him in the dark?

"Karen is worried about what Keanu will do with this information," explains actress Lorraine Stanley, who plays her. "She's scared that it will prompt him to try to find his father, and either take revenge – or want to get to know him! There are so many directions it can go in, and none of them are positive."

Karen's worst fears are realised after she sees Keanu sporting a black eye. When he refuses to reveal how he got it, the pair argue and Keanu punches a wall in frustration before storming off.

Worried Keegan goes after his brother to check that he is feeling okay – and inadvertently makes a remark about Shane, which triggers Keanu's mission for the truth.

"Keegan slips up and says something along the lines of, 'That's just like your dad,' after Keanu punches the wall," reveals Lorraine. "It makes Keanu a bit paranoid, so maybe deep down he wonders if he's inherited that trait from Shane and is scared of it."

With that, Keanu heads back to confront Karen and angrily grills her for information about the missing link in his life. But as Karen skirts around the issue, desperate to shield her son from the awful truth, he flies off the handle again – leaving Keegan to help his mother pick up the pieces.

"Keegan comes into the launderette and they have this

“How do you tell your kid that you were stabbed by their dad?”

Keanu is given food for thought by the mention of his father

Karen has a heart-to-heart with son Keegan lovely two-hander sat on the bench in there,” shares Lorraine. “Karen tells Keegan about the events of the day and it’s really sad, because you can see that her past with Shane has not only scarred her physically, but emotionally, for life. I don’t think she wants Keanu to see her in that way, and the last thing that she wants is for him be as messed up as she is.”

However, the fact that she has deceived Keanu for so long threatens to tear them apart and so, after some wise words from Keegan, terrified Karen steadies herself to have the conversation with Keanu that she has been dreading. Can she find the courage to deliver news that will turn his world upside down?

“Karen is apprehensive, but Keegan has insisted, ‘You need to tell him,’” sighs Lorraine. “But how do you tell your kid that their mum was nearly killed by their dad, and he’s doing time inside for it? It’s her worst nightmare...”

Laura-Jayne Tyler

WHO’S THE DADDY?

Lorraine has her eye on a famous face to play Shane...

Our soap intuition tells us that the chances of meeting Keanu’s nasty dad some day are highly likely, considering how much we’ve been hearing about him recently. And while we’re in no doubt that the role will go to the right man for the job, cheeky Lorraine has her own ideas as to whom she’d like for her leading man...

“I want Tom Hardy – for selfish reasons!” jokes the 42-year-old actress. “Although, he and Danny Walters who plays Keanu do look really similar.

They could pass as father and son, for sure!”

Sharon plumbs the depths!

OH, THE GLAMOUR...

Walford's original princess is forced to get her hands dirty this week – although judging by those fabulous pink rubber gloves, Sharon plans to do anything but! However, might a knight in shining overalls come to the rescue of a damsel in domestic distress?

It's a scrappy week for the Mitchells as Sharon grows tired of her son Dennis' behaviour. The little rascal is caught bragging about how lenient his mum is, prompting Sharon to put Phil in charge of policing her boy.

With that, Phil decides to teach Dennis a lesson and takes him to the Arches, where he tells the young lad that he's fed up of his antics, and tasks him with fixing Sharon's jewellery box for the day. It's fair to say that Dennis is less than impressed, but would he really be so cocky as to cross Phil?

Meanwhile, Sharon's at home when disaster strikes – the kitchen sink is blocked!

"Phil isn't around to help," smirks our EastEnders mole, "so he sends his trained grease monkey Keanu to lend Sharon a hand, as she's struggling to get to grips with the plunger. However, Keanu doesn't seem to fare much better, as when he tries to fix the problem, he gets totally soaked in the process!"

Back at the Arches, Phil casually leaves Dennis to lock up on his own – which goes down a treat with Sharon who, frankly, has enough on her plate! The worried mum rushes over to the garage to find her boy – and rightly so, as Dennis has been set upon by troublemaker Stix and his unruly gang.

As Keanu tries to fix the blocked sink, he gets totally soaked!"

As Sharon arrives at the Arches – quickly joined by Keanu – the only sign of Dennis is his discarded jacket in the mechanic's pit. What has happened to the lad? Can Keanu and Sharon track him down? And will Sharon ever forgive Phil for endangering her son?

Laura-Jayne Tyler

TOY BOY AFFAIR SHOCKER!

Will Sharon fall in lust with Keanu?

Keanu is helping Sharon to fix her plumbing, you say? Well, that's certainly one way to phrase it! The latest news from Walford to be splashed across the tabloids is that the Square siren will cheat on husband Phil with his young apprentice – giving EastEnders fans a very sizzling end to the summer indeed...

"Over the next few weeks viewers will begin to see the pair with their eyes on each other," whispers our source. "By the end of the next couple of months, they won't be able to keep their hands off each other! Keanu must be a brave man, as Phil isn't someone you want to mess with..."

We thought we detected a cheeky spark between Sharon and Keanu when they teamed up to steal a car from a grumpy customer a few months back. Phil has been fairly neglectful of his wife this year, so it doesn't surprise us that Sharon would go looking for affection elsewhere. But what a great twist – if the rumours are true – should the fella in question turn out to be Keanu.

"The coupling is set to be quite scandalous – after all, not only is Sharon a married woman, but she's a good two decades older than Keanu!" whispers our insider. "It wasn't all that long ago she was lecturing best mate Michelle about her affair with a younger lad, so poor Sharon will be forced to eat her words if news of this affair gets out on the Square!"

CORONATION STREET

GRAVE EXPECTATIONS FOR LIZ

Is this the moment she discovers her daughter is alive?

Here's a sneak peek of Jim's return to Corrie – and it seems he's lining up an emotional time for his ex-wife Liz.

Our snappers caught Beverley Callard and returnee Charles Lawson filming touching scenes where they visit the grave of their daughter Katie – who died shortly after birth back in 1992.

But of course, news reached us recently that Jim's return will see him revealing to Liz that Katie survived, and is alive and well. So what's he up to?

"This story just gets more and more intriguing," whispers our cobbles insider. "Why is Jim taking Liz to their daughter's grave if he knows full well that she's alive? Will the visit be what finally makes him crack and reveal the big secret?"

According to reports, there was a mix-up at the hospital leading Liz and Jim to be told their daughter had died. In fact, Katie lived, and was adopted by parents who named her Hannah. And it's Hannah who is set to blast into Liz's life and leave her reeling.

"Imagine the shock – it's simply inconceivable," says our source. "This is going to leave Liz elated and devastated in equal measure.

Liz clings to Jim for comfort – but is he playing her?

It's wonderful that her daughter lived, but the mum has missed out on her growing up – a whole lifetime has passed and Liz has seen none of it."

Corrie bosses are staying tight-lipped on the exact details of the plot, but it's expected to kick off later this summer, when Jim is released from prison for the robbery he carried out on his last visit to the Street. And while his return will see him armed with life-changing info rather than a deadly weapon, the effect on Liz's life is going to be just as devastating...

SUPER GRAN!

Maureen Lipman is coming back to the cobbles...

The legendary Maureen Lipman CBE is returning to the Street after 16 years away – and Tyrone had better brace himself!

Renowned actress Maureen last crossed the cobbles in 2002, as Rovers relief manager Lillian Spencer. This time, though, she'll star as Tyrone's formidable grandmother, Evelyn Plummer – but it's not just Tyrone who should watch out...

"Evelyn is eye-wateringly withering," reveals Corrie producer Iain MacLeod. "She'll add a fresh dollop of northern humour to the show as she turns Tyrone and Fiz's lives upside down.

I am beyond thrilled that we're introducing such a great new character, played by someone of Maureen's pedigree."

Tyrone and Evelyn will cross paths after he decides to investigate his family history following the recent death of his mum Jackie. Soon enough, the outspoken battleaxe will be calling the shots at No 9 – winding Fiz up a treat before forcing her forthright views on other unsuspecting residents.

Evelyn is set to make her cobbles debut this September.

Matty attracts from a girl this week – leaving his close pal

Victoria green with envy!

Matty and Victoria have been growing closer for a while, and it's looked as if they might get together. But now it seems their potential romance has been set back a few steps...

"When Matty returned to the village a few weeks ago, there was an instant attraction from Victoria, who knew him before he transitioned," our Dales spy reminds us. "The two friends go way back, yet Victoria has now found herself looking at Matty in a completely new light. The pair of them recently had an awkward moment when their mutual attraction became clear – but Victoria panicked and ran away. So when she spots another girl eyeing up Matty, she surprises even herself with the intensity of her jealousy."

As Matty chats to the girl, Victoria feels herself getting more angry. However, she's completely crushed when it becomes clear that the two of them are getting on so well that they are going to head off together!

"Matty is really excited to have met a woman who is making no attempt to disguise how much she likes him," reckons our mole. "And she's stunningly beautiful too – something which Matty has definitely noticed! The two of them are totally oblivious of poor Victoria, who can only watch from across the room as they make eyes at each other."

However, when the girl kisses Matty on the lips and suggests that they go back to his place, his excitement starts turning to panic. As he's overwhelmed by a mixture of conflicting emotions, can he find a way to respond without frightening her off completely?

"Matty is terrified of messing things up!" exclaims our sneak. "He doesn't want to make a fool of himself, but he also wants to be honest."

As Matty struggles with his embarrassment, might Victoria come to his rescue? Or is she so hurt by his actions that she'll wash her hands of him?

As soon as they've touched down on the Spanish island of Majorca, though, Mercedes drops her bombshell: her hubby-to-be is Russ Owen, her first husband who was last seen nine years ago when he fled with his kidnapped son, Max – who he fathered with Mercy's late sister, Tina!

"Mercedes is buzzing to be back with her family," shares

Jennifer Metcalfe, who plays her. "Although it's not long until the drama starts, and she soon wants to be as far away from them as possible!"

Needless to say, one person who's furious about the revelation is Myra – Mercedes' mum and Max's gran – who flies off the handle when she claps eyes on Russ again after all this time.

"She's extremely angry, because he stole Max!" splutters Nicole Barber-Lane, who plays Myra. "It's very bittersweet, because she feels her heart open and break all at once. Max is her daughter's son, and it brings back all the memories and sadness of Tina, and the fact she hasn't been able to watch Max grow up."

Mercedes is desperate to get her mother back on side, but even when she introduces her to her grandson, Myra refuses to be happy for her daughter. Can Mercedes get Myra's blessing – or will she carry on with the wedding regardless?

"Myra's her mum," sighs Jennifer. "Ultimately, Mercedes will do whatever she wants to, but having her mum's blessing will make it better."

NANA'S NEW MAN!

While Mercedes clashes with her mother over Russ, Nana McQueen is determined to make the most of her Magaluf holiday, especially as she has a brand-new dating app to test!

The first chance she gets, she arranges a night out with the exotic-sounding Ronaldo – and Nana reasons he must be a cross between Enrique Iglesias and Ricky Martin!

Unfortunately, her hopes of being on a promise look set to be crushed. As excited Nana gets ready to meet her potential hot lover, it turns out that Ronaldio isn't quite what she expected...

So will Nana keep an open mind and see where this love leads? Or will she be sticking to home-grown men from here on out?

Sadly, it looks as if it's going to take a bit more than words to mend the rift in the family, as Myra plots with Goldie to show Russ that his fiancée isn't the angel he thinks she is. However, it's not Russ who has second thoughts, after a shock revelation about her fella leads to Mercedes calling off the wedding and planning to fly home alone!

"Mercedes and Russ are older, but nothing has changed – I'm not sure it ever will," admits Jennifer.

So is their marriage doomed to fail before it's begun? Or are there further twists in store?

There's an extra guest at the hen do this week – in the shape of Good Morning Britain presenter Richard Arnold! The popular entertainment editor turns up in the Magaluf scenes, playing himself – and he certainly went down a treat with members of the Hollyoaks cast.

"He was lovely!" hoots Nadine Mulkerrin, who plays Cleo. "He didn't need any tips, because he's such a pro in front of the camera. I think that he was quite happy and was enjoying himself. I just told him to be truthful and to have fun!"

Rainie finds out Max has downloaded a dating app!

EASTENDERS | BBC1 THURSDAY

“I love you, Max!”

SHE CONFESSES HER TRUE FEELINGS TO HER HUSBAND – BUT WILL HE RECIPROCATE?

Rainie steps up her efforts to seduce Max this week, convinced that he really does fancy her – but when it transpires that he’s joined a ‘no strings attached’ dating site, is she barking up the wrong tree?

Since the pair arrived back in Walford as husband and wife a few months ago, it has become increasingly clear that Rainie isn’t just interested in winning custody of baby Abi – she wants to win Max’s heart too! But when Rainie finds out that Max has downloaded a dating app to his phone, she takes great pleasure in teasing him, before messaging a woman on his behalf.

“What started out as a marriage of convenience is looking more and more as if it might have a bit of spark to it – at least from Rainie’s side,” reckons our Square spy. “She’s attempting a number of different tactics to get Max to notice her as more than just his partner in crime.

“However, her scheme to wind him up doesn’t quite go to plan, when Max ends up arranging a date with this woman on the site – making Rainie go green with envy! Undeterred, she comes up with a new idea to prevent him from going on the date.

What a tangled web Rainie is weaving – if she likes Max so much, why doesn’t she just proposition him straight out?”

Unfortunately for Rainie, her plan backfires, and her hubby soon realises how she tried to sabotage his date. Backed into a corner, Rainie panics, and is forced to come clean, admitting that she only acted the way she did because she has genuine feelings for him!

“Finally!” groans our frustrated sneak. “It might all be a bit too late, though, and Max isn’t quite sure what to make of this revelation. He’s never really looked at Rainie Joyce's message in a bottle!

TED FINDS A NOTE FROM HIS LATE WIFE - WILL HE CARRY OUT HER REQUESTS?

Widower Ted is surprised when he discovers a note from his late wife Joyce this week, which soon leads to a whole trail of messages she's left for him to find!

When Bernadette and Patrick grow concerned about how their friend is coping, they concoct a plan to help him take his mind off things. Patrick asks Ted to help him at the allotments, and his pal reluctantly agrees. However, there's a surprise in store for Ted when he finds a bottle containing a note from Joyce.

Later, when Bernadette checks in on Ted, he tells her about the note, and she encourages him to try to honour Joyce's wishes.

"Joyce was keen that Ted build bridges with their kids, especially their son, Alan, who's in Australia," explains our Square source. "So as Ted reads Joyce's message, he's moved to give his lad a call. He feels better after speaking to Alan, and gives the flat a good tidy – which is when he comes across a second note..."

Ted soon realises his wife has deliberately left him a series of letters, with some specific instructions for him. Bernadette helps Ted track down more messages, but one particular note leaves him reeling! Patrick and Bernie try to persuade Ted to carry out Joyce's request, though Ted feels it's a step too far. What could it be?

Tom Spilsbury

that way, and given how her vices have traditionally been money and drugs, it's not even occurred to him that she could be capable of deeper feelings. Now that he realises she's deadly serious about wanting a relationship with him, Max is at an absolute loss about what to think."

As he reels from Rainie's confession, Max heads to the Vic in order to drown his sorrows. Once there, however, he runs into Jessica – the young prostitute who used to work with Rainie – who offers Max some insight into what Rainie is really like. Will it be enough to make Max think twice about how he feels about Rainie, so the pair can finally consummate their unconventional marriage?

Audrey suffers a jailhouse shock!

AS LEWIS DECLARES HIS LOVE, WILL AUDREY BELIEVE HIM?

Temptation strikes for Audrey this week, when con man Lewis tells her he loves her.

Audrey is stunned to receive a prison visiting order from her old flame, who she recently tried to help escape the long arm of the law. Despite discovering that Lewis was behind fake psychic Rosemary's attempts to swindle money out of gullible Gail, Audrey let him make a run for it. So to learn that he's currently residing at Her Majesty's Pleasure is a real shock to the system. But that's not the only surprise Lewis has in store...

"Lewis is on a mission to right the wrongs he did to Audrey"

"Lewis is a man on a mission to right the wrongs he did to Audrey and her family," reveals our Weatherfield spy. "His first move? Chucking £40,000 into Gail's bank account to repay the money he conned from her a few years ago. It's a massive gesture, and one that's solely designed to get Audrey's attention. It certainly proves that Lewis means business."

As Gail attempts to get her head around being £40,000 richer, Audrey makes her way to the prison to see Lewis. The old magic is still there as they meet, and Lewis explains why he wanted to see Audrey, and tells her that he handed himself into the police so he could repent for his crimes. Repaying Gail's money is his way of proving that he's changed and wants to show Audrey that he loves her more than he loves cold, hard cash. As silver-tongued as ever, Lewis makes a heartfelt speech telling Audrey that she's the only woman he's ever truly adored – and that nothing means more to him than winning her back.

"What woman could resist this from the man who she's besotted with?" asks our insider. "Lewis knows just how to sweep Audrey off her feet, and she is clueless as to how to resist him. But it wasn't long ago that he was orchestrating a scheme that involved her daughter's dead serial-killer husband putting a curse on their family! To give Lewis the benefit of the doubt this time is something of a big ask."

There's more, too, as Lewis reveals that he'll be released on Wednesday and hopes Audrey might consider them trying again. She heads off with food for thought and is soon met by Gail, who reveals the money has reached her account. Gail wonders what Lewis' game is – however, Audrey suggests that he might be being honest. Is she right to trust him?

CRASH for Megan

EMMERDALE | ITV THURSDAY

THE TERRIFIED PAIR COME CLOSE TO DEATH...

Frank can't afford to buy the car from Ross – but Megan surprises him

Frank can't believe his luck – though it seems Ross has sold Megan a faulty motor Tragedy strikes the Dales this week, as Frank and Megan are involved in a car crash – but who is to blame?

The estranged couple reunite to take a classic motor for a spin, unaware they are driving towards disaster. But when they take a sharp corner too fast, the car veers off the road and flips in the air – and it seems they're lucky to escape the wreckage in one piece...

"When I looked at the car on its bonnet, I thought, 'How could Frank and Megan get out of this alive?'" shares Michael Praed, who plays Frank. "We didn't film a stunt, you just see Frank and Megan driving off and then the camera pans down to something leaking, so you know that it's knackered. The next thing you see is the car flipped over. The viewers are smart as whips – they'll imagine the accident."

While Frank and Megan lie silently in the crashed car, it's clear they are fortunate to have survived. It would have been a tragic end to their story, as Megan only bought the car because she knows Frank has fallen in love with it. The guilty woman makes the gesture to win him back after her fling with Graham – but what she and Frank don't realise is that Ross has sold them a dodgy motor!

"Frank's a little old for a mid-life crisis, but that's what this is," laughs Michael. "He walks around the corner and sees this car and is hit with nostalgia. The car is everything Frank isn't at this moment in his life – it's virile, reckless and masculine. He's humbled because he can't afford to buy it."

Megan spots her chance and pays Ross, then invites Frank to take a spin with her. He agrees, despite his

THE ART OF THE CON!

Frank's near-death experience comes at a time when he is going through a real crisis of confidence – and returning to his criminal ways. Now he has a loving family around him, the reformed lag has got a lot to lose. Does Michael want more bad Frank?

"I'd like that enormously!" he grins.

"Remember, he's attempting to cover up being a little bit naughty with running these jewellery scams. Frank thinks that ending his wicked ways for Megan has completely emasculated him, and he blames her for his lack of self-worth.

That's why Frank has used this in order to justify to himself dipping his toe back into a bit of skulduggery! That doesn't speak terribly well of his ego!"

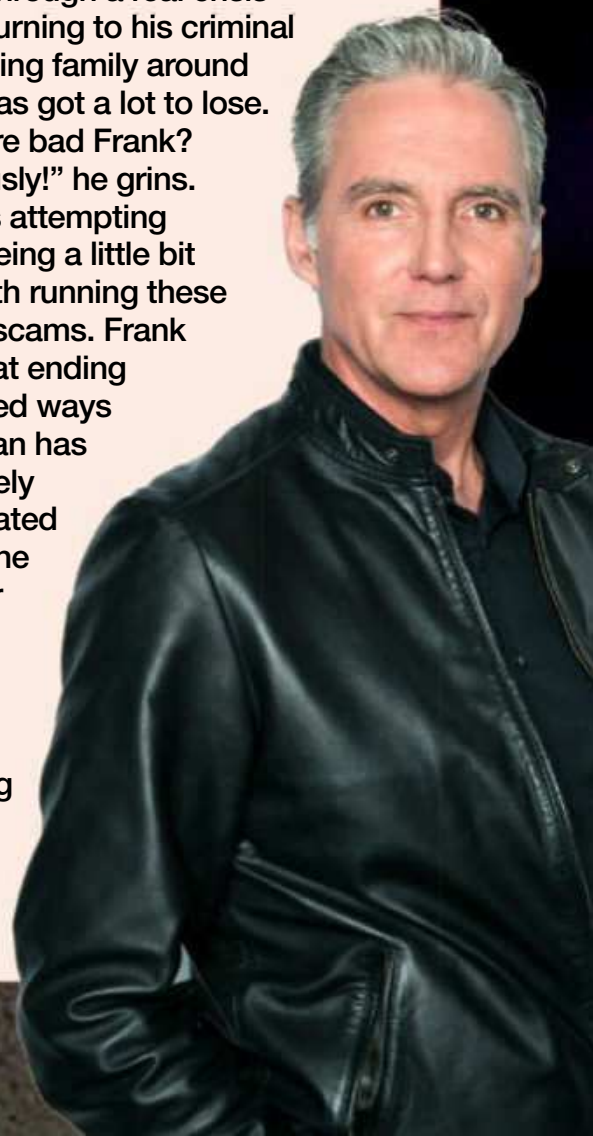

inability to forgive her for cheating on him. But will the crash change how he feels about Megan and their future?

"It's a lovely thing for Megan to do," muses Michael. "The crash certainly makes them think about what's important in life. This story asks the question of whether men find it harder than women to forgive infidelity. Don't forget, Frank also has the residue of resentment over Megan cooking up a plot to frame him for a con, and send him to prison for 10 years!"

Their troubled history and this latest drama doesn't suggest great things about Megan and Frank's chance of living happily ever after. Does Michael want them to stay together?

"I was caught off-guard when Frank cheated with Charity – I actually felt guilty!" chuckles the star. "That's absurd as it's not real life. But Gaynor Faye [Megan] and I are invested in their relationship – we want it to work out!"

Business and pleasure?

AS CARLA AND PETER TEAM UP, IT MAY NOT BE A WISE IDEA...

Desperate Carla is forced to make ex-husband Peter her business partner this week, or risk losing Underworld forever.

With Alya finally ready to sell back to the Connors, it's a race for Carla to get the money together, but she's coming up short. Peter hears about her predicament and seizes the chance to get closer to Carla by offering to invest his Rovers money in the factory. With no choice but to accept, will Carla live to regret her hasty decision?

"At first, Carla is angry with Peter – how dare he try to 'get into bed with her' financially and be her saviour?" says Alison King, who plays the feisty woman. "Does he think she's just going to roll over like that? She does protest too much. Carla knows it's not ideal going into business with Peter, but she needs him, and she hates that she does."

As confused Carla tries to tell herself it's all just business, Peter's agenda is crystal-clear. Ever since his split from Toyah, he's been trying to get Carla back, and this is the perfect opportunity to spend lots of time with her. But his feelings are genuine, and when the former couple go into the factory to look around as the new owners, Peter is there for Carla when she begins to get upset about Aidan.

"Fighting for the factory gave her something to do to take

Carla is delighted when Alya offers to sell her the factory for the value of Aidan's original stake her mind off losing Aidan," shares Alison. "It was better to do that rather than sitting on her own admitting she was going through pain. Everyone has told her that his suicide wasn't her fault – and Carla knows that, yet she still believes that she played a part in his death. The factory is her self-medication."

As Peter comforts Carla, it's clear they have strong feelings for each other, but Carla is “Carla knows it's not ideal, but she needs Peter – and hates that!”

PETER OR NICK?

Alison has her say on Mr Tilsley's return...

The imminent comeback of Nick Tilsley is bound to cause Carla problems, and will put a severe dent in Peter's plans. What will happen to their dynamic once he returns?

"I hope it has an impact – Nick was the love of Carla's life, the grown-up, calm one," says Alison. "Nick would have been good for her, while Peter couldn't be more different. I think there is a lot to be explored!"

So, is Alison against a Carla and Peter reunion?

"I think they're better apart, but I like working with Chris Gascoyne [aka Peter] so much, so I don't want that to be the case," she shares. "Would I like Carla to be happy in love? Yes! It would be far easier to play as I've had a lot of drama!"

determined to keep things on a strictly business level. But when he quits Streetcars and tells her that he'll now be working at Underworld full-time, Carla is stunned. Will she be able to resist him as they work so closely together?

"Carla will want to try to do that, but she is a swan on top of the water with her feet going crazy underneath, because she knows her heart is flipping," admits Alison. "Essentially, Carla and Peter just love each other, and it's a very kind relationship under the surface. No matter what has gone on, even when they say they hate each other, they actually know they don't. Their chemistry isn't something they can do anything about!"

FRIENDS FOREVER?

Forget Robron, and you can keep your Marlon and Paddy, because the Dales duo that I adore is Graham and Joe. Their complex history and dysfunctional relationship has me gripped – so I'm keeping my fingers crossed that Joe forgives Graham for beating him to a pulp!

RUBY IN THE DUST

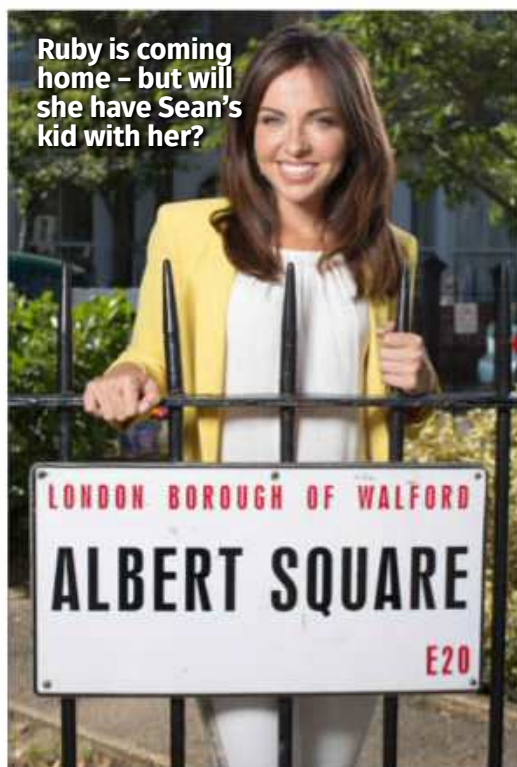

Since the news broke that Ruby Allen is returning to Albert Square, my imagination has been working overtime – and I think I've cracked it. She's coming back with Sean Slater's child! At least, that's what makes the most sense to me – why else would she rock up on Stacey's doorstep after all this time? And imagine Stacey's reaction...

👤 | Vicki

It would give Rob Kazinsky (Sean) even more reason to reappear...

HISTORY LESSON

I really enjoyed it this week when Rita was reminiscing with Leanne over giving her a job at the Kabin. It was lovely, and showed how far back a lot of the residents go. And it's another reminder of why Rita is the greatest character on the cobbles – bar none!

Ruby is coming home – but will she have Sean's kid with her?

👤 | Megan

Rita has bonds with Gemma, Jenny, Sally – she's taken them all under her wing at some point!

Glenn watched over the lifeguard training closely

NOT KIMPRESSED

Glenn Donovan has to be the most vile villain ever to step foot in Hollyoaks. I'm still in shock that he shot Kim – when will somebody stop him? Grace needs to get back to her gangster roots and wipe him out once and for all. And if she needs an accomplice, I live locally – I'll happily help her out!

👤 | Holly, Chester

It seems that there really is no limit as to how far Glenn will go to get what he wants.

LOVELY LYDIA

Lydia in Emmerdale reminds me of Paddy's ex-wife Emily. They share that same sort of kooky nature, with a heart of gold and an innocent view of the world. I hope Lydia doesn't end up the same way as Emily, though – betrayed and broken-hearted.

👤 | Siobhan

I trust Sam to make Lydia happy. They need to get round to sorting out their wedding – it would be a beautiful day!

Irene was determined to find out which of these two had eaten her last chip

LIV FOR THE HUNT

Don't get me wrong, I love Olivia in Home and Away – but I'm such a big fan of her and Hunter's relationship that when Hunter leaves, I want her to go with him! These two have been through thick and thin together, but their chemistry is terrific and it would be a nice treat for viewers to see them have a happy ending. They're made for each other!

👤 | Des

I've changed my mind a few times – but I think I agree with you now. Hunter & Olivia forever!

GOLDEN OLDIES!

Bravo to Neighbours for showing that we ladies and gentlemen over the age of 60 still have sex!

The recent scenes of Karl and Susan "christening" the greenhouse, and Clive and Sheila playing around in the living room, have been hilarious yet true to life. Age is just a number!

👤 | Sam, Shoreham-by-Sea

Good on you, Sam! Although if I was forced to choose, I'd opt for naked Mark Brennan over Clive!

A CLEAN SLATER!

Thank goodness that Hayley in EastEnders is slowly but surely getting things off her chest by telling more and more people about her pregnancy. It's not healthy for her to have been hiding it for this long! But now Jean has found out, how long before Kat follows suit?

👤 | Ben

That Alfie-baby time bomb is certainly ticking...

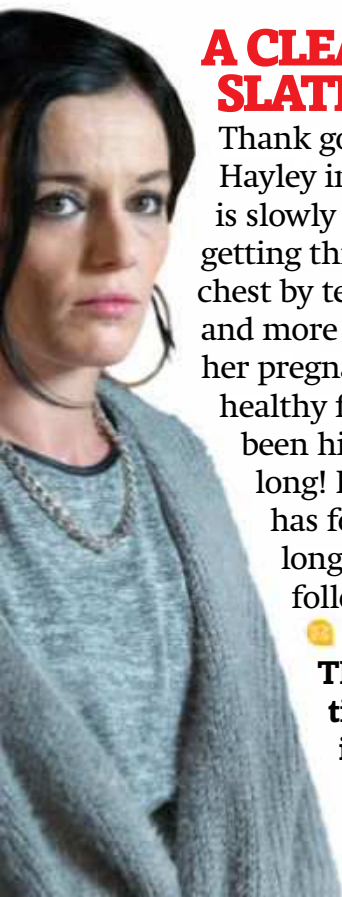

ILLUSTRATION: ROB DAVIS

SEAN BEATEN AND BEREFT

Usually the life and soul of the party, Corrie's Sean has hit rock bottom and ended up homeless. And you have been deeply saddened by the dangers he's faced while living on the streets...

Seeing Sean so desperate and depressed is almost like watching a different character – it's clearly robbed him of all his self-esteem. I really hope someone realises his situation and gives him a helping hand.

👤 | Shirley

Sean's homelessness storyline certainly rings true – I've been through the situation myself. It can be hard to admit that things are bad and swallow your pride to ask for help, but I pray Sean doesn't have to suffer much longer.

👤 | Phil, Brighton

However, some of you have been distracted by other parts of this storyline...

I appreciate that there's the medical centre, but surely Corrie should have included a fully fledged hospital and not a police station as part of the Victoria Street extension. In this past month alone, Jack has been in hospital for sepsis, Johnny for a collapse, Ryan for hitting his head, and Josh and Sean for being beaten up! I think it's time Ali and Rana got an upgrade!

👤 | Graham, Swansea

I'm very glad Corrie is tackling the topic of homelessness, yet I can't help feeling slightly unmoved – I'm just not sure I believe that someone as popular and outgoing as Sean would end up on the streets without anyone noticing. I felt the same way when Denise went broke and hungry last year in EastEnders.

👤 | Jenni

I think that's what the story is about – losing everything can happen to anyone, no matter how unlikely it seems.

That actress who plays the reporter in Corrie looks the spitting image of Tina McIntyre. She must be Michelle Keegan's sister or something – surely?

'That actress' is Saira Choudhry, who has popped up as Weatherfield Gazette journalist Naila Badal a few times since 2013 – and she's not related to Michelle Keegan at all! THE BIG interview

EMMERDALE | ITV THURSDAY

“We sobbed while reading the scripts”

Lucy Pargeter and Dominic Brunt tell us what it's like to be on the other side of Chas and Paddy's heartbreaking story...

Losing a child is something no parent ever wants to face. But what do you do if your job is to spend months working on a storyline that asks you to confront your deepest fears? For Emmerdale's Lucy Pargeter and Dominic Brunt – both parents in real life – the answer is that you prepare for one of the toughest professional journeys of your career.

We catch up with them to learn what it's been like to lead this emotional story, and to find out if their Dales alter egos, Chas and Paddy, can emerge stronger from this nightmare...

Hi, guys. You've had viewers in tears for weeks – how are you both coping with such a tough storyline?

Lucy It's harrowing! In some cases when you are playing a tough storyline, you don't necessarily have to go to an emotional place in your head. Whereas here, for the first time in a while I've had to go to places I don't want to go.

Dominic We sobbed while reading the scripts. Obviously, it's not as tough as going through it in real life, but it's fascinating to play. Weirdly, it has a positive twist to it as they're having the baby for a positive reason – though whether they decided to take the baby to term or terminate the pregnancy, neither choice would be right or wrong.

Have you found yourselves rushing home after work to hug your kids?

Sharing is caring: Paddy and Chas talk with Joanne

Lucy As soon as you open your front door, reality hits you and it just washes over. You leave work at work and go home to the craziness! It helps that you get on with the person you work with.

Dominic Yes, we're very similar, we've both got kids and all the trouble that brings! We both thank God we aren't going through this in real life.

Lucy I'd only recently had my twin girls, but I always try to put a positive spin on things – so I was thinking, 'At least it will make the emotion raw'.

Paddy and Chas meet Joanne this week, who's been through a similar experience to them. Did you meet any couples in your research on this plot?

Dominic No, when the writers asked if we wanted to meet some parents, we decided not to. The problem is that those people would tell us exactly how they felt at that time – but that's not Chas and Paddy's way of doing it.

Lucy The research would colour your performance as everyone makes their own decision and has their own opinion. That case study would have been in my head, and we wanted to play it how it was written, as Chas and Paddy feel.

How do Chas and Paddy feel when they meet Joanne?

Lucy The hospice recommends they meet with someone. Joanne's baby had a different problem from Margarita, but sadly she died. Joanne tells Chas and Paddy they can ask her any questions like, "How was the birth?", "Do you ever regret it?" Joanne is their sounding board.

Dominic They need to speak to someone to get ready for this. As Joanne tells them what happens, she remembers what's happened to her – it's played brilliantly. The story team and writers have done their research, and treated the subject respectfully.

This is serious stuff, but the two of you have a lot of fun working together, don't you?

Dominic We do – we natter a lot and are constantly being told to shut up!

Lucy We have a tendency to start a scene off at a pace and then get faster and faster and faster! Somebody has to go, "Slow down, so we can actually hear what you are saying!" Then, if I make a mistake, I tend to just carry on, but Dom can't cope with that.

Dominic It really sets me off. When you fluff a line, and the take won't be usable, you still lie to yourself that you got away with it. It makes me collapse!

You clearly love working with each other, so are you keen for Chas and Paddy to get through this together?

Lucy I really hope they do. They're having the same experience, but have different ways of getting through it.

Dominic I really hope so, too. Paddy can't help but say the wrong thing sometimes as he's not carrying the baby – but he's a good person, and he's trying to do what's best for Chas. It's the aftermath of this that interests me.

What can we expect as the storyline progresses?

Lucy The birth is going to be different from how I think people anticipate.

Dominic Without a doubt. Eventually, they do agree about organ donation.

Lucy After what happens with Debbie and Sarah, Chas decides that they should do it – to give someone else life from what they are going through. It's harrowing and hard, but there are some absolutely beautiful lines in the script. Playing this journey as a partnership has been enjoyable – even if it's sometimes been difficult, too.

Kate White

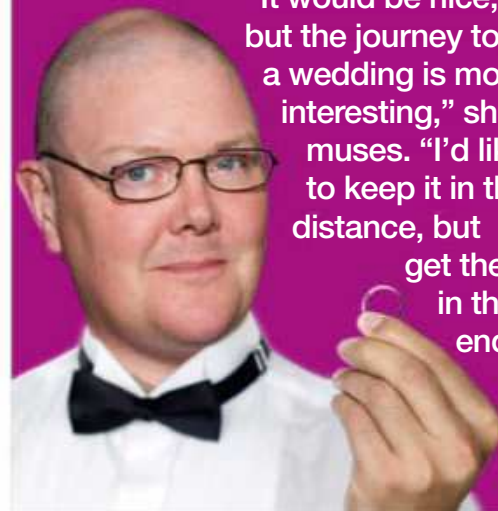

MEET MR DINGLE?

They almost tied the knot a few weeks back, but Chas called it off at the last minute. However, Dom is keeping his fingers crossed for a joyful wedding in the future.

"I want to be a Dingle," he enthuses. "I want to be called Paddy Dingle, and I want to sail off into the sunset with Chas! But then come back again..."

Paddy has previously married a Dingle, of course – we all recall Mandy – however, is Lucy in favour of taking a trip down the aisle?

"It would be nice, but the journey to a wedding is more interesting," she muses. "I'd like to keep it in the distance, but get there in the end!"

“Iain’s life will be changed forever...”

AS A TERRIFYING SERIES OF EVENTS HITS IAIN HARD, MICHAEL STEVENSON SAYS HIS ALTER EGO MAY NEVER BE THE SAME AGAIN...

“There’ll be a few tears...” admits Michael Stevenson, as he hints at the major consequences of Casualty’s dramatic series opener this week – with his paramedic alter ego, Iain, at the heart of the action. “Without a shadow of a doubt, this will change Iain’s life forever. Everything that happens in the episode adds another level of guilt and jeopardy to all the characters it affects. And the viewers will definitely be shocked!”

With the promise of such epic drama, it comes as no surprise to learn that Casualty pulled out all the stops in creating such a heart-stopping episode – and Michael was wowed by the scale of it.

“I’ve never seen a set so big – it made you feel as if you were walking into a movie,” reveals the 35-year-old. “I knew the team was going down that route in terms of the scale, but they threw the book at it! And it was lovely how involved they allowed me to be on the stunt side of things. I learned a lot – it was amazing.”

Iain’s own experience is very different, however. After he’s forced to make a difficult decision in the heat of the moment, the aftermath proves devastating – and not just for Iain. What happens in the hours that follow is set to affect him for weeks and months to come, but Michael is well up for the challenge.

“This episode in particular sends Iain to places he’s never contemplated,” explains the actor, who married former EastEnders

Lauren Crace (Danielle Jones) in 2016. “We want to show how stretched paramedics are in the real world, and how much responsibility they have – so much is asked of them. There are repercussions for Iain which can’t be dealt with overnight, and he has a long journey ahead of him.”

With such heavyweight drama under way, it’s good to know the Casualty crew was able to lighten the mood behind the scenes, as Michael explains his favourite method of getting through a night shoot...

“The most fun part was trying to cheer up Charlotte Salt [Sam],” he shares. “She makes no secret of how much she hates night shoots, while I love them. So I’d just laugh at her, and mimic her mardy-ness – she was laughing at herself by the end of it!”

Allison Jones

I’ve never seen a set so big – it was like walking into a movie!

BIG JESSIE!

We can’t bring our chat with Michael to a close without a mention of his gorgeous dog, who makes regular appearances on his Instagram – and is a joy to behold!

“She’s called Jessie!” grins Michael. “I’ve taken her to the hairdressers this morning, actually. She’s fussy, so I stay and give her a cuddle while she’s getting washed. I take her into work sometimes, and I’ve tried to get her a Casualty storyline – the ambulance station could do with a dog around!”

NEIGHBOURS | Channel 5 WEDNESDAY

Ned GOOD!

Neighbours' Ben Hall chats to Inside Soap about his Ramsay Street return...

We were delighted when Ned Willis arrived back on Ramsay Street recently – mainly because we knew trouble wouldn't be far behind! And while we sit down for a chat with Ben Hall, who reprises the role after a year's break, he says his comeback was as much a shock to him as it was to us...

Did you always know you were going to come back to Neighbours?

No, I had no idea! When I finished up last time I thought that was me done. But I really enjoy working here, and I've made some great friends.

Can you tell us about Ned's bond with Bea?

It starts coincidentally, Bea thinks she may have seen Finn, so Ned offers to walk her home. Their friendship blossoms from there – but it's early days...

Is romance on the cards?

Well, Ned has a history with Bea's sister Elly, so I reckon that could end up being a little bit awkward.

Ned's a bit suspicious of Cassius. Why is that?

He's very protective over his sister, Piper, so he's keeping an eye on Cassius! Ned finds it odd that he's being so secretive.

Would you like to see more of Ned's dark side?

Definitely. It's the most interesting part of the character for me – the fine line that he walks between being a good and bad person. It's exciting!

Sarah Ellis

To Ell and back: Will Ned reunite with his former flame?

Let's go round AGAIN!

STUART MANNING TELLS US WHY THE
TIME IS RIGHT FOR ANOTHER SPIN ON THE HOLLYOAKS
CAROUSEL...

“When I arrived back at the studios for my first day of filming, the welcome I received was absolutely epic,” grins actor Stuart Manning, as he joins Inside Soap for his first chat since reprising the role of Hollyoaks’ Russ Owen. “The same crew is still here, as well as some of the old cast such as Nick Pickard [who plays Tony], Ashley Taylor Dawson [aka Darren] and Jen Metcalfe [Mercedes] – all people that I’d worked with for six years previously – so it’s been lovely. I don’t think any actor heads to their first day on a show and doesn’t feel nerves, but for me there were none. It was weird!”

Russ was at the heart of some huge stories from 2004 to 2009 (see sidebar, right), during what many would say was a golden era for the soap. Russ was the first bloke to make an honest woman of Mercedes McQueen (well, kind of), and could well be the last, if the pair’s forthcoming wedding in Majorca is second time lucky.

Beach for the stars: All of the actors enjoyed their sunny surroundings on their time off

"Jen had been away for a year having her beautiful baby boy, so with Mercedes due to return, it felt like the right time to bring her and Russ back together," explains Stuart, on the decision to reunite the former flames. "To find out that we'd be filming in Majorca was a nice little sweetener, obviously, and I'm getting married myself this year, so the timing couldn't be more perfect! Although I'd like to think it'll be a little classier than Russ and Mercedes' first wedding!"

The McQueens are in for a shock when they touch down in Majorca (see p18) for Mercy's hen do and realise that Russ – of all people – is the man she's intending to marry. As Russ has been AWOL for nine years, what's brought them back together?

"Russ messaged Mercedes on social media, they met up and love blossomed again," reveals Stuart. "They've always been kindred spirits in a way – and while they might be older and wiser now, it wouldn't be Russ and Mercy without a bit of craziness. Nothing is ever easy with those two, so they'll have to work at it!"

All McQueen melodramas are utterly bonkers, and this one's no exception! But in the real world, the actors made the most of their sunny surroundings.

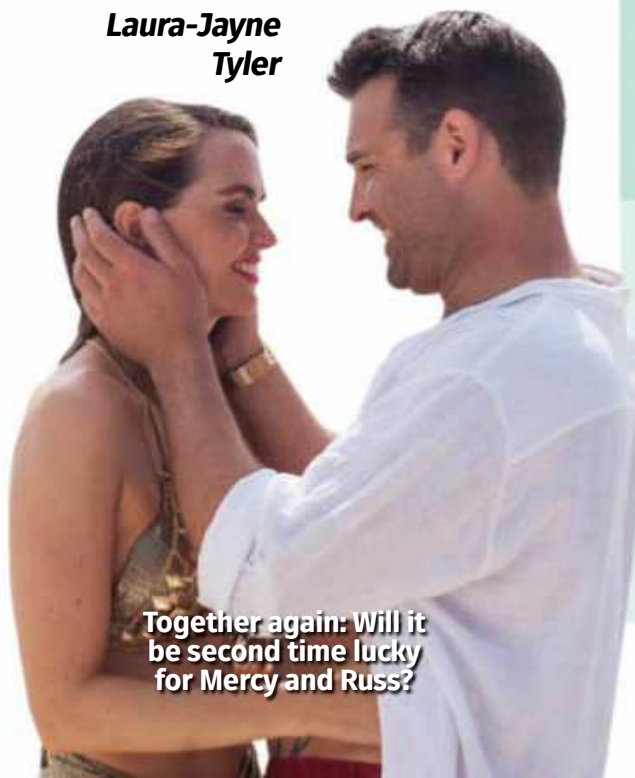

"I had a fair number of scenes, but I was done in a couple of days, so I got to relax and top up my tan while everyone else was working," sniggers Stuart. "Although, one day I went for a really long run, got completely lost and had to get a taxi back. That was clever!"

Stuart knows a thing or two about keeping in shape, given that, back in his Hollyoaks heyday, the cast posed for an annual calendar. So how does he feel about getting his kit off again?

"You should see some of the bodies on this show now – they're unbelievable!" exclaims the star. "David Tag's [who plays Sylver] nickname is 'The Hulk'. He's huge! Most of the guys know that if you are in Hollyoaks, you need to work out.

"I've got one more year before I'm 40 and want to stay as fit as I can – so a little pressure isn't the worst thing in the world," adds Stuart. "That said, I think I'll let the young ones take over if the calendar does come back!"

Laura-Jayne Tyler

Together again: Will it be second time lucky for Mercy and Russ?

BACK IN THE DAY!

Let's revisit Russ' dramatic past...

After his health took a turn for the worse, Russ underwent an operation to remove a cancerous testicle – and had it replaced with a prosthetic.

"A friend of mine had the disease, so it was especially poignant for me," shares Stuart.

Russ dated Sophie Burton, despite her having been raped by his brother Sam – who ended up killing five people including himself, Sophie and her sister Mel. "I'd love for them all to return too – but they all died in the Dog fire!" wails Stuart.

Mercedes convinced Russ to marry her after he learned of her fling with Warren Fox – but the couple separated not long after their honeymoon.

"That was an interesting wedding," grins Stuart, "but I won't be wearing pink for my real one!"

In a shock twist, Mercy's sister Tina slept with Russ – and fell pregnant with his child! "Tina is no longer with us, of course," recalls Stuart, referring to the McQueen church explosion that claimed Myra's daughter. "But Max is still with Russ."

Yes, that's right, Russ fled the village and took Max with him – breaking his adoptive mother Jacqui McQueen's heart. "Russ has worked hard and brought up a great kid," reveals Stuart. "Myra is thrilled to see her grandson again."

10 totally true FACTS about... Natalie Cassidy

YOUR InsideSoap BRIEFING ON THE WOMAN BEHIND EASTENDERS' SONIA...

1 Natalie Ann Cassidy was born in Islington, London on 13 May 1983

– the second child to father Charles and mother Evelyn, who already had a son, David.

From an early age, Natalie loved to perform, and so her parents sent her to the local drama club, Anna Scher.

“It was a working-class drama club which I went to after school, and it cost

£2.50,” remembers Natalie.

“There needs to be more of that – places where for a few quid you can have an hour of fun, which might just lead to something. Kathy Burke, Linda Robson, Pauline Quirke, Perry Fenwick, Patsy Palmer, Sid Owen, me... We all came from there.”

2 Natalie was just 10 years old when, in 1993, she landed the role of EastEnders' Sonia Jackson – the younger sister of Bianca and child of Carol. During her initial 14-year stint in Walford, which ended in 2007, Sonia was well known for two things – her relationship with tragic Jamie Mitchell, and tooting on her trumpet.

“I still get shouted at in the street eight years on, ‘Where’s your trumpet?’” revealed Natalie in 2010. “I’d like to box frame that trumpet and put it up on the wall in the study!” she once joked.

4 The nation was stunned in 2007 when Natalie unveiled a dramatic transformation to coincide with the release of her fitness DVD, Natalie Cassidy's Then & Now Workout. Despite getting down to a size 6, the star says that the weight loss didn't actually make her very happy.

“People were saying how amazing I looked, but I was miserable,” she later confessed. “My world revolved around calories. I was eating next to nothing and exercising all the time. It was a bit of a farce.”

3 Tragedy struck for the Cassidy family in 2002 when Natalie's mum Evelyn died of bowel cancer. Natalie became close to co-star Wendy Richard, who she described as a ‘second mum’. So, when Wendy also died of cancer in 2009, Natalie fell apart. “I hit rock bottom,” she said. “If I’m honest, that’s when it all affected me. I made some bad choices and lost myself [after her mum died]. I thought, ‘I need to see someone about my mum, and mistakes I’ve made in my life’.” After seeking professional help, Natalie worked through her pain.

5 Diet and exercise weren't the only paths Natalie took in her quest for the perfect figure, as she also had a breast enlargement in 2005. She was so delighted by the results of her 36B to 36D enhancement that she reckons she's open to having more work done. "I love my boob job and wouldn't rule out having more surgery," enthuses Natalie. "Never say never!"

6 Natalie has two daughters: Eliza Beatrice arrived in September 2010, while she and new fiancé Marc Humphreys welcomed Joanie Elizabeth Cassidy-Humphreys in August 2016. However, Natalie isn't keen on her girls becoming famous like her. "I don't know what it's like to not be recognised," she admits.

7 In 2011, Natalie and her then-fiancé Adam Cotrell filmed reality TV show Becoming Mum for E4. It followed the couple through their pregnancy, and the first few months of Eliza's life. However, the romance soured when Adam assaulted Natalie and was given 120 hours of community service. The two split up, but briefly reunited after Adam sought help for alcohol issues, before parting for good in 2013. "It was my decision," says Natalie. "I'm really glad I gave it another chance. I can always say to Eliza, 'Mummy tried, but it didn't work out'."

9 EastEnders stars are always a big draw for reality shows, and Natalie has done two of the biggest around: Celebrity Big Brother and Strictly Come Dancing. She was the fifth person voted out of the CBB House in 2012, and she came fifth in the 2009 series of Strictly with her partner Vincent Simone. "My biggest fear is falling down those stairs at the start!" she laughed, before undertaking her Strictly challenge. Despite not winning the contest, she put on her dancing shoes again for the live tour.

8 Growing up on the Square meant Natalie forged very close bonds with her on-screen family. She credits co-star Dean Gaffney, who plays Sonia's brother Robbie, as one of her best friends. In fact, they remained close throughout the times they weren't appearing in the show together. "People have asked me if I'd missed Natalie, but we're used to speaking on the phone three or four times a week anyway," said Dean, when Robbie made his return to the Square last year.

10 Natalie hit the headlines when she appeared on the celebrity version of quiz show The Chase. She gave some tasty backchat to formidable competitor Mark 'The Beast' Labbett, after beating him on a question where she guessed the correct answer. "He looks like a bulldog chewing a wasp with that face," she told host Bradley Walsh, while the Beast scowled back. "Look, he's really upset."

The Corrie gang is in high spirits today, as they arrive for their photo shoot to promote the Street at the Inside Soap Awards 2018.

Going by audience feedback, the stars know the soap has had a cracking year – and as they fill us in on all the gossip, we can assure you there's more to come!

"Everyone on the show feels as if they're at the top of their game at the moment," beams Julia Goulding, who plays Shona. "Here's hoping we're on a winning streak!"

With storylines over the past 12 months including David's rape, little Jack's sepsis and Aidan's suicide, Corrie has been big on drama. But true to form, there have been lots of laughs, too – Rosemary scamming Gail, and Gemma trying her hand at being Rovers' landlady, to name but a few!

So settle down and enjoy, as the stars of the cobbles reflect on an amazing year...

She has long, wavy brown hair and is wearing large, orange tassel earrings. Her dress is strapless with a wide gold band across the bust and a colorful floral pattern in shades of red, white, and green. The background is a solid green color with diagonal stripes in various shades of green and yellow on the left side.

“I want
Cath
Tyldesley
to win
Best Actress, not me!”

It's lovely to see Best Actress nominee Georgia Taylor with a big smile on her face after playing 12 angst-filled months in the life of Toyah Battersby. Having failed to tell fiancé Peter about the death of their unborn child, Toyah's spent most of the year trying to hide Eva's pregnancy and pass baby Susie off as her own. It all went horribly wrong, but that's given us so much meaty drama to enjoy – and Toyah has managed to keep us on her side, no matter how crazy her actions are. Here, Georgia tells us why she's still Team Toyah, too...

Hi, Georgia – congratulations on your Best Actress nomination!

Thank you! It's a nice little pat on the back when you've been working really hard, but I don't think I've got a cat in hell's chance! I'm actually rooting for Cath Tyldesley [Eva] to win because she's been brilliant, and I think that it would mean a lot to her to have a good bit of recognition now she's left.

Toyah's had a massive year. Do you reckon that she will learn from her mistakes?

I just hope she makes better decisions – but then drama comes from people making terrible decisions. For now, though, she's trying to put the past behind her and have some fun as a single, independent woman. That's not to say she doesn't still want a child, because that will always be there – but she needs to put all that energy into something else. It'll be interesting to see what.

Do you think that you'll miss being landlady of the Rovers Return?

No! It's been really great – especially being able to watch other people's storylines unfold as a spectator in there – but the flipside is that you have lots of days where you are in all day and just stood around not doing much. I never thought Toyah was a good fit for the landlady, and I've always been honest about that. But it was an honour to be given that role.

What have been some of your most rewarding moments over the past 12 months?

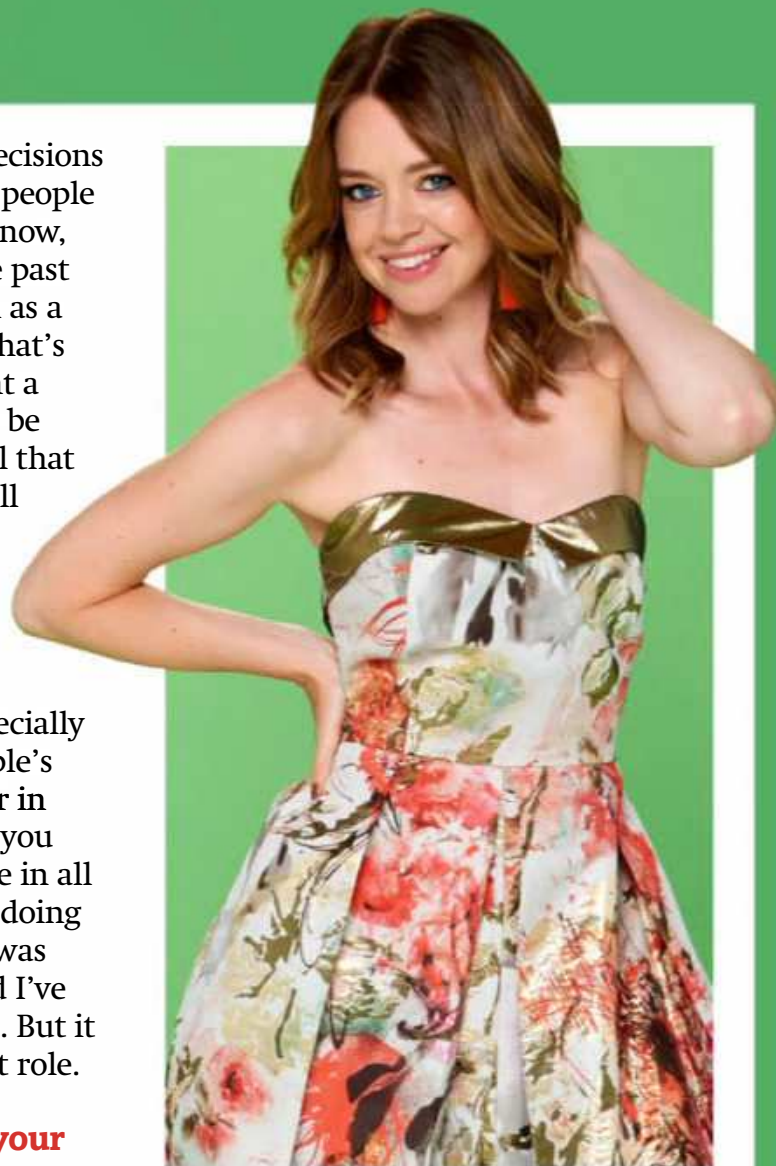

The scenes where Eva gave birth in the cottage. It was filmed on my birthday and everyone got me a cake, which was really sweet. So the day little Susie came into the world was my birthday! It was a long day of filming, but Cath was phenomenal. I also loved the scenes where Toyah told Peter about the baby. I think it was some of the strongest work Chris Gascoyne [Peter] and I did together. It's sad as I started to get lots of tweets about people liking Peter and Toyah together, but it was just too late!

Which Coronation Street character's shoes would you like to step into for a day?

I'd go completely extreme and pick Gemma. Dolly-Rose Campbell [who plays her] is amazing, but what I love so much about Gemma is that she reminds me of how Toyah and Leanne were when they first turned up on the Street. It would be fun to let loose with her outfits and attitude for a day. But nobody can play Gemma like Dolly does – she's fantastic.

Which of your cast mates do you enjoy working with most?

I love Patti Clare [aka Mary] – it's absolute heaven when I get a scene with her. Recently, I've had a few scenes with Sally Dynevor [Sally], who is comedy gold and such a gorgeous woman. I also think that Connie Hyde [who plays Gina] is fantastic and underused – so hopefully she will get busier in the coming months.

Why do you think people should vote for Coronation Street to win Best Soap?

We have the balance of comedy and drama, and there's been some really strong stuff this year. There is so much history with Corrie, and people feel very nostalgic about it – they remember watching it with their nans! I'd love our producer Kate Oates to get one last nod before she leaves, because she's really deserving of it – she's turned the show around.

SNEAK PREVIEW!

"It's important that Toyah and Leanne regroup and get the Battersby sisters back as a unit," says Georgia. "Leanne and little Oliver will become Toyah's world, and the viewers are going to love it if the Battersby sisters become a little bit naughty again. They are never going to be the Battersbys of old, because we're women in our late thirties now – but there should still be that spark there. Also, it'll be interesting to see what Toyah does career-wise, as she is a trained counsellor, so I would like to see her working with new characters and changing job. That will bring out something different in Toyah!"

“David & Shona should have a massive wedding!”

JULIA GOULDING
& JACK P
SHEPHERD

Shona Ramsey & David Platt

Shona and David may be nominated for our Best Partnership Award, but Julia Goulding and Jack P Shepherd deserve a nod for Best Workmates – judging by the hilarious banter between the pair at our shoot! It's clear the co-stars have been having a ball working so closely together – and both Jack and Julia are delighted that viewers have been loving David and Shona's antics just as much as they have...

Congrats on your Best Partnership nomination! Do you think that Shona deserves an award of her own for putting up with David?

Jack Probably! I have absolutely no idea why she stays with him...

Julia I'd have dumped David a long time ago, the way he's been with her.

Jack Her son did kill his wife, though.

Julia It's been quite a tough time for them both, to be fair!

Why are they so right for each other, do you think?

Julia They've definitely had some hard times, but there's that saying: 'what doesn't break you makes you stronger'. They make each other laugh, which I think is the basis of every successful relationship. And they challenge each other – they don't let each other get away with much.

Jack I think a lot of it is also down to mine and Julia's relationship. We socialise outside of work, we get on well, so we have a friendly chemistry – and I think that shows on screen.

Do you think that Shona has been vital in helping David cope since he was raped by Josh?

Jack Definitely. Anything could have happened to David after he went through that – look at what happened to Aidan – but luckily, Shona was there for him to pull him through. She's crucial to his future.

Julia Shona really admires David's strength, though. He gets up and carries on, and she respects that.

What's the best thing about working with one another?

Julia He makes me laugh and he challenges me. I respect him as an actor, and I like him as a person, and that works well for us. Also, he winds me up! It isn't boring working with Jack, I'll tell you that...

Jack Julia is a great actress. And she's learning a lot more about the technical aspects of acting, as I've been subtly teaching her so we can get things done quicker!

Julia Ha! That's true, though. Jack is very good at the technical stuff.

How are you feeling about your Best Actor nomination, Jack?

Jack Well, I don't take these things for granted – but I don't think I have a chance of winning! It would be nice if I did, though. But all the actors in all the soaps do a brilliant job.

Viewers have really taken David to their hearts over the years – why do you think that is?

Jack I think it's a lot of things. While he can be an absolute idiot to people, he's also funny, and loving towards his kids – he's a good dad. But he's not just one sort of character. He can also be dark and evil, and he winds people up. It's so good to play him.

How important to you is the fact that he's a Platt?

Jack The Platts are the best family on the Street – all of them are so strong that they can carry their own stories. They have the biggest house, too! I'm lucky to be a Platt.

For Shona, though, David's relatives could be considered rather formidable...

Julia Yes! But fortunately, Shona and Gail have always got on – she hasn't come up against as much of the 'Gail hell' as other girlfriends of his. And like Jack, I also feel lucky. I couldn't ask for nicer people to work with.

So is a wedding on the cards for David and Shona any time soon?

Julia A wedding's not everything for Shona and David – but wearing a big white dress on Corrie? That'd be fun.

Jack I'd want it to be a big wedding – none of this getting wed in the Bistro!

Julia Yes! Shona could wear a pair of sparkly white Doc Martens – and David the dog could be ring bearer!

SNEAK PREVIEW!

"If Shona's son Clayton were to be released from prison, it would mean a lot of heartache for David and Shona," shares Jack. "That could split them – but there's a lot that might keep them together, too, so they might still get married!"

"I'd like to see David and Shona stay together for a long time," adds Julia. "With soaps we don't often see relationships stand the test of time, so I want to find out where they could go. But there's not as much drama in the happy times..."

Shayne's arrival at our photo shoot – sporting a brand-new beard and a full head of hair – is the first time many of his co-nominees have seen him since he left his role as Coronation Street's Aidan Connor, so there's plenty of catching up to be done! We feel a bit mean dragging him away for our pictures, but with an impressive three nominations in this year's Inside Soap Awards – Best Actor, Best Exit and Best Show-stopper – he has no problem with filling us in on just how chuffed he is...

It's lovely to have you back for the day, Shayne! It feels like only five minutes ago that we were chatting about your Best Newcomer nomination in 2016 – and now you're in the running for three Awards...

Oh my days, it's crazy! I found out after my mum and sister were texting me, and I was like, "How many?!" I'm very excited. It's amazing. It's been a year I'll never forget, it really has.

When you joined Corrie, did you ever imagine the journey Aidan would take you on?

Well, you never know what's going on in those writers' heads! I never thought this would be the outcome for Aidan, but I made the decision to go for it because I knew it was bigger than anything else I'd ever do again. It was so powerful, and the episodes were fantastic. The aftermath of Aidan's death has been unbelievable to watch, too. I'm so very pleased.

Do you feel any differently about the storyline now your part in it has come to an end?

I feel completely different, actually. At the time it was scary as I absolutely love Coronation Street, and it meant that I could never go back – unless I do a Bobby Ewing and end up in the shower! It was all about the bigger picture. The story is my legacy on the show, and the way it's resonated with the public – that's what mattered.

It must have been a massive learning curve for you...

Of course. Three years on Corrie – what a great way to learn. And now I see just how much a storyline can touch the public. The number of times I've been approached by people – truck drivers beeping their horns and shouting well done! We've connected with so many people, and that's been a massive learning curve. Now I know how much of a difference a platform such as Coronation Street can make.

Who or what could you not have done it without?

The whole team – you can't do anything at Corrie alone. There were the lengthy talks I had with my mum, my partner Sophie, my screen family, and producer Kate Oates. Knowing that they were all behind me was so important. It was a big responsibility.

You've had a few life-changing moments – winning The X Factor and recently becoming a father, for example – how does being in Coronation Street compare?

Corrie has definitely changed my life. It's made me realise that you shouldn't tie yourself to one thing if you believe you can do another. It's made me glad I bit the bullet, and believed I could act. Don't limit yourself because someone says you should stay in a single lane. You only have one life! I still can't believe I have three nominations here, though...

Do you intend to continue watching Coronation Street?

I've always watched Corrie and I'll never stop. I'm a fan of the show, and now I'm back to watching it as one of the general public again.

How does knowing you can never go back make you feel?

That'll always be something I'm gutted about. But then again, I was only meant to be there six months, and I did three years! And I had an incredible time, which has opened the gates for me to do other stuff.

Where would you like your time on Corrie to take you next?

I'm about to start shooting a movie called Stairs – it's a psychological thriller, and I play a squad leader. That's why I've got the beard! I've not closed the door on music – I'll be going to Vietnam soon to play some shows there. And I'd love to be in [ITV drama] Marcella – I don't know if they're making another series, but I'm not ashamed about putting these things out there! I just really want to show what I've learned at Corrie.

Has your time on the show boosted your confidence?

Absolutely. But while it's easy to go, "The next step is Hollywood..." – it's not, and you have to be realistic. I want a BAFTA, that's what I want!

SNEAK PREVIEW!

"Aidan's death is a big loss for the Connors – they were all about pure love, and he has left a huge hole," laments Shayne. "It's been incredible watching the story continue, and the actors who play the rest of the Connors are knocking it out of the park! Aidan won't be forgotten, but the Connors will always bounce back in the end – that's what they do..."

“I’ll never

ALEXANDRA MARDELL

Emma Brooker

“I’ve been overwhelmed
by all the support!”

She might be in the running for our Best Newcomer Award – for her role as rookie salon assistant Emma – but Alexandra Mardell has settled into her Corrie alter ego's shoes so comfortably, it feels as if she's been on the cobbles forever! It's impossible not to have fallen in love with ditsy Emma, with her infallible optimism and quirky turns of phrase. And while Alexandra keeps a much more level head than her kooky character, when the warm and friendly star prepares to step in front of the Inside Soap camera, she's just as joyous to be around...

Well done on your nomination for Best Newcomer, Alexandra! Did you expect Emma to be such a hit with viewers?

You never really know what to expect – I love playing Emma, and my friends and family have always told me good things about her. But you can't be sure of how everyone else is going to perceive her, so I was very excited when I heard about my nomination. It was such a lovely surprise – thank you!

What do you think it is about Emma that has caught the Corrie fans' imaginations?

She's just so optimistic and upbeat, isn't she? She wears her heart on her sleeve, trying to put everyone in a good mood and be everyone's friend. When she first arrived, it was in the middle of David Platt's rape story and Aidan's suicide. So I was really mindful to be respectful of that – but I also wanted to remind people watching at home that there are good things to look forward to.

What would you say is the best thing about Emma?

I just love how silly she is. I'd never played comedy before – everything else I've done has always been quite serious – so it's really nice to have a giggle when she says her silly lines, and everyone finds it really funny.

Which of her hilarious lines has been your favourite so far?

I loved it when she called Gail 'Grail', a mix of Granny and Gail. That was brave! And her little mistakes, like saying 'keckle' instead of kettle because she doesn't have a clue...

Do you reckon that Emma would be a friend of yours in real life?

I think she would drive me a little bit mad – but she's like your annoying little sister that you have to look after, bless her! You have to like Emma, though, because she means well.

How did you feel on your first day on the cobbles?

I was very nervous. I've watched Corrie over the years, and it's always been my favourite soap, but I didn't know anyone who worked there. Everyone's very lovely, though, so you just settle in really quickly. That was great, and I didn't feel scared for too long.

Who took you under their wing?

Samia [Longchambon, who plays Maria] and Sue [Nicholls, aka Audrey] really looked after me. And when I first arrived I was working with Jack [P Shepherd, who plays David] a lot, and he's so funny. So you forget you're the new person, and feel as if you're everyone's friend. I was so in awe of Sue as I think she's brilliant!

What's the most important thing that you've learned since joining Coronation Street?

Just to be yourself. Everyone that I've met at Corrie is so funny and so lovely, there's no walls up around anything. Everyone is happy to talk to you and be a friend. So I've learned that you should just be yourself, completely.

Is there another character you would like to swap places with?

I'd love to be Tracy because she's the polar opposite of Emma, and it would be loads of fun to be so mean to everyone! Emma couldn't be that horrible, she's too nice. I'm really happy she's such a lovely character.

How have you coped with being recognised out and about?

I was really surprised at how people recognise you straight away – after my first episode! It's a bit surreal as I'm so new, and I'm overwhelmed by all the support. But I'm happy to chat with people if I have the chance, and have my picture taken, because people are supporting you. You just really appreciate how they're taking the time to come and see you.

What's it like when you pay a visit to a real salon now?

It's a bit bizarre! And also, my actual hairdresser is called Emma as well, so that's quite funny. She's nothing like my Emma, though – not at all...

SNEAK PREVIEW!

"There are always going to be challenges ahead, but Emma, bless her, will take it in her stride," shares Alexandra. "She'd like to imagine she could run the salon one day, but realistically it's just not going to happen. I'm hoping she might find herself a romance, though. After her disastrous fling with David, she needs someone to be her partner in crime. She's very easily heartbroken, so fingers crossed someone is about to come and sweep her off her feet... That would be really lovely!"

It's no easy task joining a show as huge as Coronation Street, knowing that your new character will very soon be hated by the show's loyal viewers. Josh's brutal attack on David, and the heartbreaking consequences which followed, have been hard to watch at times – but Ryan's nomination for Best Bad Boy reveals the level of respect his gritty portrayal of the ruthless mechanic has earned as a result...

Well done on your nomination, Ryan – you're getting a nod for being good at being bad...

Exactly! It's brilliant to have been nominated among so many talented actors – a genuine honour. I've always wanted to be up for a best soap villain award, so it's really nice to be recognised in this way.

Did you find it daunting being a Coronation Street newcomer, while already knowing what Josh was capable of?

You don't understand how big a deal it is until you're actually on screen. When I first accepted the role, I didn't realise how much I'd end up getting recognised. It's a huge responsibility, but hearing the stories of those who've been personally affected by the storyline, and how it's helped them, has been a lovely thing.

And a character as popular as David being Josh's victim must have been a tough call...

Yeah. As soon as something is happening to a Platt, you know it's big. Once I found out, I thought, 'Wow, this is going to be massive!' But an iconic Corrie character was what the storyline needed, because then it makes a really big impact.

Have you enjoyed working with Jack P Shepherd (aka David)?

He's been great. We've always just got on with it – and had a laugh along the way, which is also important!

Have you managed to let go of the darkness of Josh's storylines at the end of the working day?

Sometimes it can linger, but most of the time it's okay. It's important to let it go, though. There's this thing that I do – when I finish a scene, I do a little ripping motion in mid-air, as if I'm tearing it up, and I put it in an imaginary bin, so it's gone. I've found that always helps me.

Are you sad that the nature of Josh's crimes means you can't stay at Corrie forever?

I guess it depends how long it lasts, really – the storyline is still going for now. But when you're a villain, the clock is always ticking. I'm really grateful for all the opportunities I've had here, so we'll have to wait and see what's still to come...

Is there a character that you would like to swap with for a day, to escape Josh's badness?

Dev would certainly be up there – but there's also Roy. David Neilson, who plays him, is a phenomenal actor. There are a lot of great actors here, though Roy is a true character, which is testament to David.

What's been the best thing about your time at Corrie so far?

All of it! I'm doing what I love every day. I've certainly never wanted to be famous – but when you have lovely conversations with fans and you realise how much they appreciate what you do, that's always very nice. And everyone at Corrie has been an absolute pleasure to work with – I've made some great friends.

What do your family and friends make of it all?

They've been tuning in, and it's nice to be able to reward my family in some way, since they're the ones who got me through drama school, and let me have this strange career! They've always been behind me, so I'm glad they're getting a bit of payback.

Do you have a message for the voting Inside Soap readers?

What can I say? Make sure that you vote all things Coronation Street or Josh and Phelan will have ya! Seriously, though, thank you – it's a real honour. Vote for Corrie if you think that it's the best – and not that I'm biased or anything, but it really is...

SNEAK PREVIEW!

"Josh will always consider himself the victim, and protest his innocence – he won't accept that he actually did what he did to David," Ryan tells us. "He definitely deserves justice, and I know the viewers are interested to know how this will happen.

Perhaps his punishment has already begun, with the blindness he's suffered after being attacked – but there's still a long way to go..."

Jack Webster

“I just want to do my best!”

When Best Young Actor nominee Kyran arrived at our studio with his proud mum and big sister in tow, he confessed he was feeling a bit nervous about his very first photo shoot. So who better to offer a few words of wisdom than seasoned pro Shayne Ward? From the moment he stepped in front of the camera, however, 11-year-old Kyran was a natural – doing just as fantastic a job with his poses as he has with his portrayal of cobbles youngster Jack...

Congrats, Kyran! How did you find out you'd been nominated?

My mum ran into my room at 6am to tell me! I was so excited and couldn't believe it. It's my first time being nominated – so while I'd love to win, I'm just happy to be in the running.

You've had quite a year – were you daunted when you were told about Jack's sepsis storyline?

Well, I was really excited to be getting a big plot, and a bit nervous as I didn't know anything about sepsis. But having done some research with my mum and dad – and meeting a girl called Sasha, who'd been through sepsis – I felt more confident. I just want to do my best to get it right.

Do you watch Coronation Street at home with your family?

Yes – my whole family are big fans of Corrie! We always watch it together, although I still find it really strange watching myself on television.

What's the best thing about working on the show?

I love working at Coronation Street. Everybody is so nice and friendly, and I love working with Michael Le Vell [aka Kevin] and Brooke Vincent [who plays Sophie]. When we're not filming, Michael and I are always talking about football, and Brooke is always being silly with me and making me laugh!

Do you have a message for the voting Inside Soap readers?

I'd like to say a massive thank you to everybody who has already voted for me, and I just ask that they keep voting! My mum tells me about the messages of support that people are sending me. Thank you so much – I hope we're raising awareness and helping lots of people.

SNEAK PREVIEW!

“Now Jack's started his rehabilitation, he will have his ups and downs,” reveals Kyran. “But he still loves football, so if he's able to start focussing on his football ambitions again, that will give him something positive to aim for...”

DEBORAH MEADEN TELLS US WHY THE DEN HASN'T LOST ITS ALLURE FOR HER...

“I’m really lucky – I’m doing what I love in life,” beams

Deborah Meaden as Inside TV joins her on set during a break in the filming of the entrepreneurial series’ latest run. Considering she’s now been doing this job for over a decade, it’s impressive that she still gets excited about coming to work every day to see what business ideas she’ll have pitched to her – but since she believes that the quality of pitches this year is higher than ever before, it’s not really that surprising...

“I genuinely mean this – this is the best series ever,” enthuses Deborah. “This is the best set of businesses we’ve ever had. Every year I don’t believe they can top it, and then – record year.”

So without giving too much away, it’s safe to say that we can expect Deborah to be splashing the cash a fair amount over the course of this series on a variety of new projects. And she’s keen to make clear that if she didn’t genuinely believe in these businesses, she wouldn’t give them a single penny.

“I GENUINELY MEAN THIS – THIS IS THE BEST SERIES OF DRAGON’S DEN EVER”

“If there was no good business, there would be no investment,” she assures us. “I live with these businesses, so it’s important that I make the right choices. If nobody came into the Den I wanted to invest in, I wouldn’t invest. It’s my money – I don’t have to!”

The line-up of Dragons remains unchanged since last year, and this is the second year in the Den for relative newcomers Tej Lalvani and Jenny Campbell. So does Deborah think she’s got the measure of them now?

“Oh, I got the measure of them instantly – it hasn’t taken me two series!” she chuckles. “But it definitely

Having been a Dragon since 2006, Deborah is one of the most recognisable faces from the Den and people always want to chat to her about their business ideas (which, she confesses, often aren’t very good) when she’s out and about. However, it

Saved By The Bell

I've really loved Versailles. It's so beautiful and it unfolds quite slowly. The two brothers, Louis and Philippe, they're like oil paintings – it's like living art!

Usual Suspects, Moulin Rouge and Cry Freedom – those are my top five films.

Growing up I was into Saved By The Bell. Even at that age, I realised as an Indian girl watching TV that the brown girl would always get the nerd. I loved the show but felt uncomfortable at the same time. It's interesting watching it now with grown-up eyes, now we talk a lot more about representation and what that means.

If I could be in any show, I would want to be on Corrie probably – who wouldn't want to be on Corrie?! They have a lot of crime there, so I would happily be a reporter, because then I wouldn't have to go out of my comfort zone too much!

The Good Place on Netflix is really good – and it's got Jameela Jamil in it! I thought, 'Yeah, good for you!' – she's a British star and she's gone to America and made it massive. I did philosophy at university, and I love how The Good Place brings philosophy into comedy, with the afterlife, and what is a good place and a bad place. Ted Danson is brilliant in it!

My favourite childhood film is Mary Poppins, that makes my heart sing. I'm trying to get my son to watch it, but he's refusing at the moment! I love The Last Temptation Of Christ, The

UNFORGOTTEN | ITV SUNDAY

WE WATCH A LOT OF CRIME

dramas, so we like to think we can tell the good from the bad – and Unforgotten is one of the best currently being made. Nicola Walker and Sanjeev Bhaskar play off each other beautifully as Cassie and Sunny, and we love the way the show deliberately nipped any of the 'will-they-won't-they?' tension between the pair in the bud – a bold move in the world of procedural telly that thrives on that sort of thing. It's also rare to see a crime show spend as much time with the victim's loved ones, really exploring the long-term effects of a murder on the people left behind.

was her appearance on a certain other show that Deborah believes changed the way people approach her.

"Strictly changed things, because people used to be quite scared of me," she reveals. "I used to see out of the corner of my eye people going 'there's that woman off Dragons' Den!'. But because of Strictly they understood that there was more to me than just the scary woman in the chair, and more people approach me now, which I like. I would rather people said hello than whispering away in the background!"

GREAT BRITISH MENU | BBC2 MONDAY

MAKING A MEAL OF IT

ANDI OLIVER TELLS US WHY SHE AND HER FELLOW JUDGES ARE ALL SMILES...

Great British Menu judge Andi Oliver is the first to admit that taking over from Prue Leith last year was daunting. But as she joins Inside TV on the phone to discuss returning for this year's series, it's very clear that she had a fantastic time on the show – and she's thrilled to be back...

Boxing clever: Culinary delights

Is your job as much fun as it looks?

Oh it is, it is. I'm eternally grateful to Matthew [Fort] and to Oliver [Peyton] for making me feel so welcome, because Great British Menu is a whole universe that's been going so long. It holds an iconic status in the hearts of the audience, so to walk into it and follow in the footsteps of somebody like Prue Leith – not not daunting, shall we call it that? They've been absolutely amazing, and we make each other laugh so much. Matthew's terrible puns, Oliver's awful jokes – and luckily for them, I'm hilarious!

This year's menu is paying tribute to the NHS – what can you tell us about that?

It's interesting, because the brief absolutely touched the chefs in such a way. The chefs always have a connection, but this brief meant that they really dug deep. All of us have got an NHS story about how our baby survived, or our mum, dad or auntie – everybody has their own personal connection to the NHS, so this meant an awful lot to the chefs.

Representatives from the NHS joined you as guest judges – how was that?

Some of them were harsh, you know! One of our guest judges, he goes to more fancy restaurants – and is a harsher critic – than us three put together! We were open-mouthed, he was brilliant.

WHO DO YOU THINK YOU ARE? | BBC1 MONDAY

SURVIVAL INSTINCTS

ROBERT RINDER EXPLORES THE PREVIOUSLY UNSPOKEN HISTORY OF HIS GRANDFATHER...

In 1998, Robert Rinder – best known as TV's Judge Rinder – was taken to Poland by his grandfather Morris, who wanted to share his experience of surviving the Holocaust. In this week's episode of Who Do You Think You Are?, Robert returns to explore the story – and finds it very complicated.

"I was worried that I'd be going on a journey where I'd been so aware of the detail – and I was completely and utterly proven wrong," he tells Inside TV. "It's all absolutely genuine – they don't tell you where you're going to or anything, they unravel the details in front of you at the same time as the viewer."

Even in the situations where Robert was already aware of the story, he tells us that going where his grandfather had been many decades before him provided him with a new perspective on what Morris endured.

We were just in awe of them all, to be honest. These are people who do extraordinary things like run the Air Ambulance service, or are first responders to tragic or often frightening emergencies – so it's really humbling for us to be around people for whom that's their daily work. I felt so happy that this was the brief, and that we're getting to celebrate and say, "Thank you" to them all.

"We were standing inside a concentration camp, or the ground of it, in warm clothing but freezing cold in a way that we'd have done anything to make it stop," reveals Robert. "I kept thinking to myself that my grandfather was there in rags. It had an irrevocable effect on my understanding of him and the other survivors. It's absolutely life-changing to have had that experience."

THE SPICE OF LIFE

NISHA KATONA EXPLORES THE VARYING STYLES OF INDIAN COOKING IN GREAT BRITAIN...

Indian food is very popular in the UK, but the term "Indian food" is very broad and doesn't account for the many and varied styles of cooking throughout all the regions of the Indian subcontinent. In this new four-part series, restaurateur Nisha Katona visits home cooks across the country to find out about the recipes that have been handed down to them through their families.

"The British are uniquely open-minded when it comes to the world's cuisine, but our understanding of Indian food is actually pretty misplaced," Nisha tells Inside TV. "Indian food from curry houses is actually Bangladeshi/Sylheti food. It's great, but it's not what Bangladeshi chefs eat at home."

X marks the spot:
Britain's best food?

In the series, Nisha will meet people in their own homes as they share delicious and straightforward recipes that have proven to be a big hit with their own families. She hopes that the show will help to demystify the art of Indian cooking.

"If you want to cook the way Indians cook at home, just watch this programme and you can do it in five minutes," vows Nisha. "Go out and buy literally six spices, and you'll be able to do it. It's really important, watching them cook in their own homes with their battered pans, one spoon, a knackered hob and six children screaming around them – that's how people live!"

MY FAMILY AND THE GALAPAGOS | Channel 4 8PM

Shark week

We've reached the end of Monty Halls and his family's modern-day version of The Durrells, in which they have all been exploring how humanity and animals are co-existing in the Galapagos – and, more to the point, the ways in which our actions might be jeopardising the existence of some species.

Tonight the family searches for the marine iguana, the only lizard that forages for food in the sea. These creatures were once dubbed "hideous, dirty and stupid" by Charles Darwin, which just goes to show that he wasn't right about everything. Monty will also be taking Isla snorkelling with his favourite animal – sharks – and gives a talk at his daughter's school to teach the students the facts about the marine predator.

SYLVIA PLATH: LIFE INSIDE THE BELL JAR | BBC2 9PM

Regional variations

Sylvia Plath's only novel The Bell Jar, first published in 1963, broke taboos by acknowledging the pressure on women to remain confined by domestic life rather than seeking fulfilment on their own terms, and by documenting the main character Esther's mental health issues. In this documentary, Sylvia's daughter Frieda Hughes – herself speaking about her mother on camera for the first time – speaks to many of the people who knew Sylvia well to get a picture of the woman behind the novel. The story is fleshed out further by previously unpublished letters and photographs of Sylvia.

LOST BOYS?: WHAT'S GOING WRONG FOR ASIAN MEN | BBC2 10PM

Setting the record straight

During her time working as a teacher, Mehreen Baig noticed that British-Asian boys from some communities were falling behind their peers. Now, with an increase in negative portrayals of Asian men in the media, in this film she wanted to find out what impact this is having on young British-Asian men.

"Ultimately what I really wanted is for these boys to have a platform to speak for themselves," Mehreen tells Inside TV. "As well as issues with social mobility, pressures from inside the community and cultural expectations, what is it like growing up with the burden of these negative perceptions and stereotypes? I wanted them to have the chance to tell their own story."

Twist in the Tale?

THE HANDMAID'S TALE | Channel 4 9PM

Regional variations

We've mentioned a few times this year that the second season of The Handmaid's Tale has been a little muddled in its focus, but we always wanted to wait until we'd digested the whole thing before making a call on whether it was worth sticking around for. So we're very interested to see where tonight's finale leaves June, who has a big decision to make about her future (very much a rarity for any woman in Gilead). Meanwhile, Emily is fearful of what kind of life awaits her with her new Commander, and Serena Joy rallies the other Wives in a bid to effect real change – but will she succeed?

FEAR THE WALKING DEAD | E4 9PM

Given the phenomenal success of The Walking Dead, it's only natural the people behind the show would want to launch some sort of spin-off. This is more of a prequel/companion series, as it follows a separate group of survivors and takes place way back at the beginning of the zombie apocalypse. Nick Clark wakes up in a heroin den to find his girlfriend eating a corpse...

THE HEART GUY | Drama 8PM

They say what happens in Vegas stays in Vegas, but one thing definitely isn't staying in Vegas: Hugh's estranged wife, who's made the trip from Sin City to Whyhope and is set to shake things up for Hugh and Penny upon her arrival...

ER | CBS Drama 6PM

We wave goodbye to an icon in today's stack of four episodes, as Dr Doug Ross (aka George Clooney) hangs up his scrubs and leaves County behind. It may have first aired 19 years ago, but it never gets any easier. Sob!

BOLLYWOOD: THE WORLD'S BIGGEST FILM INDUSTRY | BBC2 9PM

Hooray for Bollywood

Presenter Anita Rani is living the dream in this two-part documentary series. Quite literally, as it turns out that she's a huge, huge fan of Bollywood movies. She travels to India to visit Mumbai – formerly known as Bombay, where the B in Bollywood originates. It's the centre of the world when it comes to these productions, and home to the wealthiest film stars on the entire planet.

Anita goes in search of what makes an all-singing, all-dancing Bollywood movie – but first she stops off at a premiere and quickly reveals her inner fangirl by shouting at its star.

"Good luck if you've come to the cinema for a quiet experience," she says as the audience goes wild. "There's no shushing anybody in here!"

THE REPAIR SHOP | BBC2 6.45PM

We take an awful lot from the television we watch every week in order to inform you, dear reader, of the best on the box. What we take from The Repair Shop this week is that we now need a walking stick with a handle that's shaped like a monkey's head that also moves like a dummy. No, really, now that we know it exists it's all we can think about. You'll have to wait until tomorrow's episode for that treat, but tonight's offerings are no less fascinating, including a watch that survived its owner's confinement in a WWII prisoner-of-war camp, and an original Louis Vuitton trunk that has travelled far...

PHIL SPENCER'S STATELY HOMES | More4 9PM

If you thought getting on the property ladder was pricey, you might want to look away as Phil Spencer works out just how much it would cost to build some of Britain's grandest stately homes. In this second series, Phil takes a trip to Wiltshire's Longleat House, first built to impress Queen Elizabeth I. He digs into the archives to discover papers by its builder, Sir John Thynn, to find out the costs...

FRESH OFF THE BOAT | 5STAR 7PM

At last! The return of the US sitcom, and Jessica finally gets to host Thanksgiving instead of her sister – nothing goes to plan, of course. Cash has everyone in a spin in the next episode, as Eddie ends up working for rapper DMX.

INSIDE THE AMBULANCE | W 8PM

The reality show that puts life into perspective returns, as cameras are clipped to the crews of West Midlands Ambulance Service. The team has to rescue the passengers of a taxi that's been flipped over in a motorway collision.

A PASSAGE TO BRITAIN | BBC2 9PM

DON'T Miss!

Making waves

Ships' passenger manifests might not generally be revered as the sexiest, most fascinating of documents, but they can be extremely useful in the right circumstances. In this new three-part series, Dr Yasmin Khan studies the lists to find the people who came to Britain from the Indian subcontinent between the 1930s and 1960s, and what became of them.

"My initial reaction was, 'It's a brilliant idea, but it can't be done!'" Yasmin tells Inside TV. "The passenger lists aren't 100 per cent reliable, and I did suspect that it would be too hard to trace families after two or three generations. But we put a call out for people to get in touch, and managed to piece together these really hidden stories of individual lives."

DON'T Miss!

Making the grade

ACKLEY BRIDGE | Channel 4 8PM

Information rarely stays private for long at Ackley Bridge, so despite Missy's attempts to keep her pregnancy a secret between her, Nas and Aaron, a public vomiting incident spreads the good news around the entire school in about 10 seconds flat. Considering her options between potentially failing another exam and starting a family with Aaron, Missy decides she's done with school for good – but can Mandy and Emma change her mind? And Emma has problems of her own, mostly Chloe's increasingly serious relationship with older man Tony, so she enlists Will's help to keep them apart.

THE REAL MARIGOLD HOTEL | BBC1 9PM

Express yourself

Say what you will about 2018, but there is indeed something good about the world when The Krankies and Stephanie Beacham are on a prime time BBC1 show.

This week, while the rest of the celeb team explores the city of Udaipur, Bob, Selina and Susan choose to investigate Rajasthan further and set off for a journey into the hills that involves camping and horse-riding. However, it's not quite as glamorous as they might have first imagined.

Our Stephanie has the right idea, choosing to explore her inner self through meditation – an excuse we've often used for being late for work, actually. But she certainly makes up for it – by dancing into the small hours.

ORANGUTAN JUNGLE SCHOOL | Channel 4 8PM

Regional variations

Forget reality shows where people pretending to be celebrities share a house for weeks on end – mentioning no names – we'd happily sit through hours more scenes from the Nyaru Menteng Orangutan Rescue Centre in Borneo, Indonesia. Or, to give it a more snappy title, Jungle School. It's where orphan orangutans are rehomed and learn how to behave like, well, orangutans before being released back into the wild. They need to learn to survive on their own, so expect some heartbreaking scenes when they eventually have to leave their human helpers behind.

911 | Sky Witness 9PM

Anything that Ryan Murphy touches turns to gold. For instance, American Horror Story, Feud, American Crime Story, Scream Queens, Pose... so naturally we have high hopes for his latest drama, 911. It follows the lives of various emergency services teams at work in Los Angeles. Why have a show about just one emergency service when you could have all four? Angela Bassett and Connie Britton jump over from AHS to lead the cast.

THE ULTIMATE MATCHMAKER | W 10PM

Forgive us if we don't feel too sympathetic for the single but super-rich. Lara Asprey is the woman they call on to help them get lucky in love. Can she help marketing executive Josh find a date to take to a castle? Tinder is cheaper...

JUDGE ROMESH | Dave 10PM

Another double bill of unique justice from Romesh, as he seeks to settle squabbles with no actual qualifications. Can he work out which member of boy band Blue is the rightful owner of a Brit Award? We say sell it and split the cash.

CELEBRITY BIG BROTHER: LIVE LAUNCH | Channel 5 9PM

Celebrities wanted

Nothing is ever going to beat the series of Celebrity Big Brother when Pete Burns appeared. But that was over a decade ago – where does the time go? So who knows what calibre of 'celebrity' we'll be left with in 2018. It's all very secret as we go to press, but rumours are, as ever, rife. We've been promised stars (though we'll believe that when we see it) so we're keeping our fingers and toes crossed that movie icon Kirstie Alley will be putting in an appearance. Another amazing booking would be Stormy Daniels, the 'adult film star' – ahem – who's slugging it out with Trump. Other than that, it looks as though we're headed for people from Love Island, TOWIE and journalists who aren't really celebrities.

DON'T Miss!

It's a jungle out there

MEET THE DRUG LORDS: INSIDE THE REAL NARCOS | Channel 4 9PM

Regional variations

Ooh, we'd rather not if it's all the same with you... This special documentary series reaches its conclusion tonight as Jason pays a visit to an area called 'Cocaine Valley'. Well, you can bet they don't make cheese there. Funnily enough, they're not really that into having people drop by, which means that Jason has to make a speedy exit hidden in the back of a truck. He joins a group of men who transport the drugs from the Valley to jungle landing strips to find out why they do it. Jason is then asked by police to join them as they set out by helicopter to destroy a lab. But will it work?

INSECURE | Sky Atlantic 10.45PM

Issa Rae's superb sitcom about two young women dealing with the complexities of being black and female in the modern world returns for a third season tonight, as both Issa and Molly explore new horizons. Post break-up with Lawrence, Issa's sleeping on Daniel's couch and earning extra cash as a ride-share driver. And Molly is at a new, black-owned law firm – where she's no longer 'the star'.

BALLERS | Sky Atlantic 10.10PM

Also back for a new run is the sports management comedy starring Dwayne Johnson (who will always be The Rock to us, sorry). Tonight's opener guest-stars Russell Brand as the boss of an extreme sports company Spencer and Joe want to buy.

SEAL TEAM | Sky One 9PM

Amid all of this new series excitement, inevitably we have to let some other favourites go in order to make room for them. In tonight's finale, Jason leads the SEALs on a mission to take down the Halani network, while still hiding his concussion...

THE BIG ASIAN STAND-UP | BBC2 10PM

Giggle box

You've probably noticed quite a lot of shows from the BBC's Big British Asian Summer season in the schedules this week, and so far most of them have been quite serious. So it's rather nice to end the week with a bit of laughter, thanks to compere Nish Kumar with his selection of some of the best Asian stand-up comics, both established and up-and-coming.

On the bill tonight, we have Eshaan Akbar ("he started out in wealth management and is now a stand-up comedian, so he has made quite the disappointing career move from his parents' perspective"), Emily Lloyd-Saini who shares her childhood fears that she hadn't evolved properly, and Tez Ilyas who reveals the oddest heckle he's ever had.

DON'T Miss!

PENG LIFE | Channel 4 11.05PM

Chicken Connoisseur Elijah Quashie and his pals Nelson and Wilson continue to bring us the only review show that matters, as they cast their eyes over another selection of big ticket items. This week Professor Green and Jordan Stephens join them to weigh up transport options for a flash traveller: Segway or hoverboard? And can a budget coach compete with a helicopter? Rachel Riley will also be stopping by to rate luxury watches (and see how they stand up to the Countdown clock), and Wilson and Nelson are on the hunt for the best pizza – including one topped with gold, delivered in a limo.

CODE 37: SEX CRIMES | More4 9PM

The title's probably clued you in already, but you should expect some fairly grim scenes in this new Belgian drama. Chief inspector Hannah Maes with the vice squad takes charge of the investigation into the death of a 35-year-old woman in what appears to be strangulation sex that went terribly wrong. As Hannah's team gets stuck into the evidence, it becomes clear the victim led a double life...

DISENCHANTMENT | Netflix

Netflix adds to its ever-growing slate of adult animations with this new offering from Matt Groening, creator of The Simpsons. Set in a medieval realm, it follows the exploits of a rebellious, alcoholic princess searching for adventure.

ALL OR NOTHING: MANCHESTER CITY | Amazon Prime Video

Giving a new meaning to 'pep talk', this documentary series goes behind closed doors at Manchester City with coach Pep Guardiola and the team. It even lets us follow the players into the changing rooms – take that, restraining order!

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

IN JUDE MONK McGOWAN

(Liam Donovan, Hollyoaks)

It's not just Russ who returns while the gang's in Magaluf – Iona's father Liam also makes a comeback! Liam is now played by Jude Monk McGowan, taking over from Maxim Baldry. "Glenn gave Liam an opportunity to grieve over the death of Eva, by allowing him to work in Spain and help with some shady deals," reveals Jude. "I had to be half-naked for my first day, so it was straight in at the deep end!"

This week

STIRLING GALLACHER (Paula Martin, Corrie)

IN Ex-Doctors star Stirling turns up on the cobbles as Sally's old school friend Paula, who is drafted in as a solicitor to help her old pal in her hour of need. Sally is taken aback to see how down to earth Paula is, and not as she remembers her at all. Expect Paula to stick around for a while, as Sally's troubles get even worse... This week

SANDRA HUGGETT (DS MacKinnon, Corrie)

IN The past two times the detective sergeant was in Weatherfield, she wrongly arrested Maria Connor and Pat Phelan – the one occasion he wasn't guilty! Who's in danger of being falsely accused of a crime this time? Soon

ELLEN THOMAS (Omo Masters, Casualty)

IN Ellen has previously enjoyed two separate stints in Walford, firstly as Grace Olubunmi, grandmother of Mercy, in 2011 – and then as Vincent's mother Claudette Hubbard, from 2015 to 2016. She's now making the move to Holby, where she'll be playing Omo – the mother of Jacob Masters. September

THE EX FILES!

What are the one-time stars of soap up to now?

HARRY'S KNEE POPS!

Ben Mitchell actor Harry Reid had to take a night off from his play Witness For The Prosecution on Tuesday 31 July, after he popped his knee out of place! The former EastEnders is starring in the hit West End production as Leonard Vole, and Harry apologised to attendees via his Twitter account, after an old injury resurfaced. It sounds very painful, so we're glad to hear Harry was back on stage soon afterwards!

RICHARD HILLMAN'S VISIT TO DEN

Former Corrie bad boy Brian Capron (Richard Hillman from 2001 to 2003) has revealed he visited EastEnders legend Leslie Grantham (Dirty Den) shortly before he passed away in June. "I visited Leslie because we'd worked together," explained Brian. "We were the same age, and it made me appreciate my life and the fact I'm still working. Hopefully I can carry on a bit longer..."

GEMMA TOOK ADVICE FROM HER MUM

Ex-Emmerdale star Gemma Atkinson has revealed why she decided to call time on Carly Hope in 2017, after two years in the Dales. "I was doing my Key 103 radio show and Emmerdale together for six months and I just took on too much," she shared. "It was my mum who told me that I was getting so grumpy I had to leave one of the jobs." However, she added: "I'm grateful it's been left open, so hopefully at some point I will return."

LONDON'S FREE OPEN-AIR THEATRE

London's best free open-air theatre company returns to The Scoop amphitheatre by London Bridge for its 15th year this summer – featuring adaptations of The Wonderful Wizard Of Oz and King Arthur. Playing until 2 September, on a first come, first served basis – to find out more information, visit www.freeopenairtheatre.org

DVD

A WRINKLE IN TIME

Actresses Oprah Winfrey, Mindy Kaling and Reese Witherspoon are Mrs Who, Mrs Whatsit and Mrs Which – who come to Earth to share their wisdom and love with struggling teen Meg Murry (Storm Reid). Also stars Chris Pine.

BOOK

DOOF DOOF: MY LIFE IN MUSIC

by Simon May

Best known for creating the EastEnders theme tune, Simon May writes about his work – and gives valuable advice to aspiring musicians and composers starting on their own careers.

STAR CHOICE

EastEnders' Tony Clay
(Callum 'Halfway' Highway)

"I recently watched The Silent Child, which was written by and starred Rachel Shenton [ex-Hollyoaks actress who played Mitzeeee]. It's the short film that won Best Live Action Short at the Oscars – it's absolutely brilliant and such a beautiful movie. I hope they make it into a feature because it deserves it, and it's lovely."

DVD

NASHVILLE – THE FINAL SEASON

The country super stars return for the sixth and final season. Deacon (Sam Palladio) tries to battle his loneliness, while Juliette (Hayden Panettiere) looks to change her life after a public meltdown.

BOOK

A YEAR AT HOTEL GONDOLA

by Nicky Pellegrino

Meet Kat in Venice – an adventurer and food writer who travels the world. Now she is about to embark on her biggest journey yet – a relationship. But will things go the way she hopes?

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

Yes, Hunter is a little sod. But maybe Mel could give the poor kid a wee bit of a break every now and then. Her constant bleating is wearing out our telly speakers. Sheesh!

Need to make one of your actors seem a decade younger for a dramatic flashback scene? Just move him away from the pot of hair gel. Graham's untamed, bouncy barnet takes YEARS off him!

We're not sure where this Stuart plot is going, or what it's for exactly, but new Walford star Ricky Champ is unsettlingly brilliant in it. A top-class soap-nutter performance.

Hands up if you have a tiny role in EastEnders, but you're going to make the ABSOLUTE BEST of it. Bravo, pizza delivery lad.

Sometimes you take a soap performance for granted, then you suddenly remember how bloomin' brilliant they are. Take a bow, James Hooton as the Dales' Sam Dingle.

BULLSEYE!

We'll piggin' miss Eva Price! Star Cath Tyldesley brought sass and sparkle to the Street, but it's for the beautifully moving performances she gave during Aidan's exit story we'll remember her most. Don't be a stranger, love! Meanwhile, on a completely selfish note, who else breathed the biggest sigh of relief when sex god Adam Barlow decided to stay put in Weatherfield? Every cloud, eh?

Toyah's keepsake photo of baby Susie in Corrie sent our cute-o-meter through the roof! (Cut to 18 years later when she returns a leggy, blonde heartbreaker.)

Ludicrous as it may be, the Neighbours 'Fake Dee' saga is absolute soap gold. If this plot was on a night-time soap, it'd be top of the ratings!

The Corrie writers must love that whatever they ask Simon Gregson to do as Steve, he simply obliges.

...And in other soap baby news, Emmerdale's little Seb looked well unimpressed at Uncle Lachlan's kidnap capers on his mum.

Michelle calls Peter a 'cheating scumbag'? Forgotten that time you strung Peter along while toying with factory boss Luke Strong, have you?

It's so refreshing to see Robron all smiles and sharing light-hearted bants. So much better than the 'we love each other but must make each other miserable' business.

Dear Jay, You're taking love-life advice from Billy Mitchell, the man who's had his heart broken so many times it's practically mincemeat. Don't. Best wishes, Inside Soap x

YOU USE IT TO FACE THE DAY WE USE IT TO FACE CANCER

Self-esteem is important to all women, it just happens to be in sharper focus for those who have cancer. That's the reason Look Good Feel Better exists.
